

MOKENA SEWER FIGHT IS ON

Att. E. Nadelhoffer To Defend Mokena Property Owners

The battle lines in the big $70,000 sanitary sewer fight are all set for action next Monday morning February 16th, when a public hearing on the proposed sewer system will be held in the county court at Joliet.

The objectors have banded together and formed the Mokena Tax Payers Protective Association and have raised a defense fund which in fact was over subscribed within the last few days and have engaged Attorney Edward Nadelhoffer, former city attorney of Joliet to represent the objectors' interest. The objectors are determined to fight the proposed system to a finish and it is hinted that if the system is sustained in court an injunction may be prayed for to hold up the construction of the sewer.

It is said that there are varied amounts of the assessments on the various lots in the village limits. For instance a lot 66 by 136 feet located on the back street is assessed at $360 whereas a lot 66 by 200 feet located on the front street and bounded by 2 streets is only assessed $142. Half lots 50 by 66 feet also located on front street are assessed at $93. Property owners residing on side and back streets claim they are not going to receive a direct benefit from the proposed sewer system and feel that the assessment rates are almost confiscatory.

The village objectors have also been joined by objectors in the McIntosh subdivision who also have engaged attorney Nadelhoffer to represent them. Practically all of these property owners are unanimous in voicing their objections to the sewer system. One of the principal objections is that there is not sufficient city water to properly flush the sewer. The village water mains only extend as follows: from the old school house corner down front street to the junction of front street and Wolf road, then down Wolf road for several blocks and from front street down three blocks on Division street near the new school. All the rest of the side and back streets have no village water facilities.

It is contended that those streets which have no village water mains could not use the sewer even if it were laid for they would have no water to flush it with.

Last Friday night a meeting of the Mokena Tax Payers Protective Association was held at which a committee of J. C. Nielsen, and George Koeller were named to confer with attorney Nadelhoffer regarding this case. A meeting of the association was held on Monday night, this committee made their report stating that they had engaged attorney Nadelhoffer to represent the objectors of the village. A civil engineer has also been engaged to take charge of the technical points of the case. The objectors in the McIntosh subdivision had engaged attorney Nadelhoffer several months ago and are joining hands in every way possible with the village objectors to carry on this fight.

There are only 150 property owners in the village limits and out of this number, 100 have signed petitions voicing their objections to the proposed sewer system. It is also pointed out that 19,000 feet of 8 inch tile are to be used in the proposed system. The largest tile only 12 inches in diameter at the outlet. It is felt that the size of these are inadequate and they would clog if used for sewer purposes.

The Rock Island Railroad have also been assessed $1450 and are also opposed to this system. On Tuesday a special agent of the real estate department of the Rock Island lines called in Mokena and conferred with Mayor Harry F. Mall relative to the railroad property to be assessed. The special agent stated that a wrong description of the property appears on the assessment notice sent to the Rock Island and that the Rock Island has no record of the land as described in this notice.

The special agent also signed the objectors' petition on behalf of the railroad.

MOKENA

Mr. and Mrs. Paulson and family returned Monday from a motor trip to Kansas City. Wilbur Teska accompanied them.

To Stage Fire Fighting Demonstration In Mokena Sat.

The Fyre-Fytor Company and the Industrial Chemical Equipment Distributor for fire fighting extinguishers, are to make a demonstration with the new Fyre-Fytor loaded with non-freeze fire extinguisher, this coming Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14, at 3 o'clock on the vacant property across the tracks of the Rock Island Depot, Karl E. Krapp, local representative for the Fyre-Fytor Co., and A. R. Zieske, of Joliet, will sponsor this demonstration, who is a representative of the Industrial Chemicals.

It will be very interesting and all who are interested in fire fighting are urged to be present. A wooden wall and some old lumber, all heavily soaked with gasoline and oil will be set on fire and then after blazing well, the chemical will be sprayed on the blaze to show how quickly a fire of this nature can be extinguished with Fyre-Fytor Chemical Extinguishers. Quite a number of these extinguishers have been sold to farmers in the Mokena territory and this demonstration is to show how to use these extinguishers to the best effect.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR: I wish to correct a statement made in your paper of January 16th, in which it was said that Mr. Cleveland drives every body out who attempts to roam in the woodland on the private property. We lived with Mr. Cleveland for more than two years and do know that anyone who would ask his consent to enjoy the beauty that is found in the woods were welcome, but Mr. Cleveland would not allow anyone in there that came thru the wire fence. Many times I have had to patch the fence that some one broke. There have been many occasions when groups of Mokena girls have made themselves at home in the woods with the consent of the owner.

Wire fences have often been cut, gates left open, trees have been hacked, plants dug up and birds shot and parties doing these things have made themselves a nuisance and were ordered off as trespassers. JAY R. BUTLER, Mokena, Ill.

EDITOR STRICKEN WITH THE FLU

The editor was stricken very ill with the Flu Tuesday night and has been confined to his home since. A corp of efficient extra help is keeping the plant and publication of the four papers in full operation as usual.

TO THE EDITOR NOTE: When the boss is away some times we do as we please, but just now, 2 A. M. we would like to see the fellow who says wives are helpless. So say the rest of our 'gang' as to printers etc. We're all on the job but wont sleep be fine some day. Hope all enjoy OUR paper this week. Signed: Semmler's Side-kicks.

Tinley Park Legion Notes

The next regular Post meeting will be held on Monday evening Feb. 16th at 8:30 P. M. The Lions Club will be the guests of the Legionnaires at this meeting and Colonel Hadley of Advertising Men's Post will be the speaker of the evening. An invitation has been extended to a number of Legion Posts in the vicinity to be with us on this gala occasion and the entertainment committee assure us that there will be plenty of good eats. Our masque ball was a decided success and we want to thank our many friends for their splendid co-operation. As before stated the profits of this dance will be used exclusively for service work.

Our Americanization Committee reports that they have secured a new Scoutmaster, Mr. Snodgrass, and from the way he is taking hold of the Boy Scouts we can expect a crack troop in the near future.

MARRIED SATURDAY

Miss Adrienne Herbert and Herbert Hohenstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hohenstein of Mokena were united in marriage Saturday.

ORLAND ZONING ORDINANCE FOR PUBLIC HEARING

Chairman H. C. Melchor of the Orland Park Zoning commission is busily engaged with a committee and attorneys in preparing the Zoning ordinance preparatory to a public hearing on same to be held the evening of February 21 at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium of the Orland Park School. The public is invited to attend this hearing and have this ordinance explained to them. District maps have been prepared and will be displayed at the meeting. Following the hearing the village board will take up the matter of passing and adopting this ordinance. The object of this ordinance is to restrict various classes of buildings in the residential and business districts of the village. The village has been divided into three districts, residential, commercial and industrial.

This ordinance is designed to take care of the future developments of Orland Park.

Church And Community Nite

The next Church and Community night of the Orland Park M. E. Church will be held next Wednesday evening, February 18. The pot luck supper will be served at 6:30 P. M. and the evening program will be at 7:30 P. M.

The services of the evening will be in the order of the Ash Wednesday services. The Rev. Lester Springer of Congress Park, a world traveler will be the speaker of the evening. Rev. Springer has had a very interesting experience in a trip around the world. There will also be a quartette of Negro singers from the famous Metropolitan Church choir that have been heard so often over the radio. They will sing a number of selections of Negro spirituals. A motion picture will also be shown which will be in keeping with the evening.

Everyone is invited to attend both the supper and the evening program. However it is requested that all children come with their parents.

Orland Park Legion Notes

At the meeting of Orland Park Post No. 526 of American Legion was held Tuesday evening at the Legion headquarters at Orland Park. Adjutant Lawrence Cahill was appointed official press correspondent and will handle all news made relative to the activities of the Orland Park Post. Members of this post having items which they would like to have appear in the Legion News Column are kindly requested to hand them to adjutant Cahill.

A public reception will be tendered the business men and their wives of Orland Park by the local Legion Post February 24 at the Legion hall. This reception is given as a token of appreciation of the co-operation by the business men of Orland and also for whatever donations they have made toward the Post.

The Orland Park Post No. 526 will conduct a Bunco and lunch on Saturday night of this week in their headquarters at 8 o'clock. Every one is welcome. Valuable prizes will be given.

Mokena Junior Garden Club

By Publicity Chairman RICHARD HIRSCH Committee

RUTH LOWE — JOHN MUELLER The meeting of the Blue Bell unit of Junior Garden club was held at the Mokena Public school, February 9, 1931. On account of the illness of Mr. Lowe, Mrs. Lowe was unable to lead the meeting. Mrs. A. Brown President of Adult Garden Club kindly assisted the Juniors in their work.

Club President Chas. Hostert led the meeting and recited the poem, Tree, by Joyce Kilmer. Minutes of January meeting read by Club Secretary Marion Ellen Scheon. Fourteen members answered roll call. Two new members joined, Junior and Buddy Nordell. Welcome to our club.

Club slogans given by members. Each member received a garden club pin. The Blue Bells are showing great interest in their club work. Each club member brought a well arranged scrap book. Program for the March meeting was given to each member. Mrs. Braun gave the children a test on the ten flower names assigned to them at the former meeting.

Miss Winonia Reab is on the sick list. We hope for a speedy recovery. The Blue Bells are very grateful to Mrs. L. Bruder for the beautiful bouquet of Daffodils, which they will sell in the near future.

The Juniors will sponsor a bakery sale on Saturday, February 14, from 2 to 4 at the Barber shop.

NICHOLAS HOSTERT DIES AT MOKENA

Nicholas Hostert aged 78 years, died at his home in Mokena at 12:45 o'clock Monday morning, following a brief illness.

Mr. Hostert had been a resident of Mokena since 1929. Previous to this he resided in the town of Homer.

He was born in Prussia, January, 20, 1853. When 12 years of age he came to America and lived with an uncle in the town of Homer. On January 24, 1881, he was united in marriage with Mary Bisenius. They resided in the town of Homer until their removal to Mokena in 1929.

Their golden wedding anniversary was this January but could not be celebrated due to Mr. Hostert's illness.

Surviving him are his widow, four sons, William of Lockport, John of Calgary, Canada, Jake of Frankfort and Barney of Mokena. Eleven grand children and many other relatives and friends also survive him.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the late home to the St. Mary Catholic church in Mokena. Burial was in St. Michael cemetery in Homer township. Rev. Wm. Gorey of Orland Park officiating at the cemetery.

Chinese Minister To Speak

The Senior Sunday Evening Club of the Orland Park M. E. Church will present the second of their special Sunday Evening Services this coming Sunday evening, at 8 P. M.

The Rev. H. F. Cham, minister of the Federated Chinese Christian Church of Chicago will be the speaker of the evening. The Federated Chinese Christian Church is the only Christian church serving the Chinese people in the city of Chicago. There is a population of 7,000 Chinese in Chicago and this is their only organized contact with Christianity. Rev. Cham will tell us something of the work of his church and information concerning the Chinese population and community in Chicago and many other interesting things concerning their life.

The services last Sunday evening when Dr. Nall of the Epworth Herald spoke was very successful. There were representatives from Marley, Tinley Park, Homer and Worth. Every one enjoyed the services very much.

Tinley Park P. T. A.

By Leila A. Moss The regular meeting of the P. T. A. was held Friday, February 6 in Miss Vogts room.

The room was very nicely decorated in the national colors in keeping with Lincoln and Washington's birthday. The black boards each had an upper border of flags done in colored chalk, while a large "welcome" met our eyes on the center front board and on either side was the Honor Roll of which the children are justly proud. The 5th and 6th grades gave a review lesson in geography which was cleverly arranged as different radio stations. The first broadcast was from the Eskimo from station B.A.R.R.O.W., then from C.A.I.R.O. Africa. The next station we heard on the air was our own "W.E.A.F." II New York, and last but not least K. F. U. I. California. Each station had several announcers, each one dealt on a subject such as animals used, how they lived, what they raised, food, clothing, houses etc. Every member who attended this meeting certainly enjoyed these broadcasts very much. Our one disappointment was in not seeing more mothers present who have children in this room as it is a pleasure to the teacher to see the mothers of her room at these meetings. We have a great many members who have no children or with children going to high schools who are helping keep our P. T. A. afloat, so why not more mothers turn out at these meetings and all pull together for our school and its P. T. A.

A set of world books have been ordered, also $50 worth of library books for the school, the recent bunco and card party helped to make this possible.

The next meeting will be March 6th and the Rev. Paul J. Sanders of Orland Park will be the speaker. Watch this space for further announcements. Several new cases of measles are reported, also one of mumps.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us in the illness and death of our husband and father, Nicholas Hostert. We also thank all those who sent floral offerings and who donated the use of their automobiles. MRS. NICHOLAS HOSTERT AND FAMILY

To Trade School Property For Wolf Road Right-of-way

Last Friday a meeting of the school trustees of Frankfort township consisting of J. P. Bauch, John F. Schultz and Wm. Hanson; as directors of the Cleveland school district, J. Departo, P. Christianson; the Mokena Road Committee consisting of J. V. Hall, Wm. Semmler, Chas. Hirsch, O. McGovney and the Will County Right-of-way committee composed of Wm. North, H. Seehausen and A. Grinton, was held on the Cleveland school grounds to consider the proposition of securing a necessary right-of-way for the Wolf Road paving through the school property to the Lincoln Highway.

Christ H. Warning made an offer to donate to the school district a tract of land equal in size to the present school site if the school trustees and directors would deed this property to him in return for the land he has offered to donate. The proposition was very favorably considered by the county officers and the suggestion was made by chairman North of the County Right-of-way committee that the school trustees should get an estimate from a building mover or contractor as to the cost of moving the school building from the present site to the proposed new location. Soon as these figures are obtained the county will draw up an agreement and the school trustees and directors to move this building at the county's expense.

Under the law a special election will have to be held in the Cleveland school district to give the residents of that district a chance to vote on the re-location of the school. Since this matter has been cleared up a right-of-way question as far as the school district is concerned will be settled.

It is understood that Attorney Robert Martin, assistant to States Attorney Rehn, is preparing papers for condemnation against the Clarence Cleveland property through which the Wolf road right-of-way has been surveyed. It is reported that efforts are now being made to get service from Mr. Cleveland, who is wintering in St. Petersburg, Fla. Just how soon condemnation proceedings will be begun has not been stated, but it is presumed that it will be instituted within the next few weeks.

Special Edition

With this issue appears a special eight page business review and advertising supplement. Read it over carefully and keep in mind the various firms mentioned in these special write-up and ads. This supplement covers business houses of Joliet, Chicago Heights, Frankfort, New Lenox, and surrounding territories. Our special representatives are C. H. Harris and E. Daley, who compiled this special section.

Mrs. Adelheid Illgen, Aged 71 Dies In Joliet

Mrs. Adelheid Illgen, aged 79 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emily Holl, 714 Third Ave., Joliet, Ill., Sunday evening. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wm. Lankenau, Frankfort, and Mrs. Emily Holl, Joliet; one son Romeo Illgen of Monee.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, February 11 at 12:30 from her daughter's residence in Joliet to St. Peters Evangelical Church in Frankfort at 1:30. Rev. A. B. Gaebel officiating. Burial was in Monee cemetery. Mrs. Illgen formerly stayed with her daughter, Mrs. Emily Holl.

As the Monee church is being remodeled the services were held in Frankfort.

Sunday Evening Club Play Given at Homer

The play "Only Sally Ann" which was put on so successfully by the Senior Sunday Evening Club at Orland Park M. E. Church presented at the Homer Church on Friday evening.

The play when presented at Orland Park was acclaimed the most successful play ever put on by the Sunday Evening Club. It is essentially when each part is a character part and without exception each part was cast very well. A dramatic critic of Chicago University who saw the play presented by the Orland cast said it was the best play they ever put on.

Tinley Park Garden Club Notes

The next regular meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. R. J. Hug, Friday, February 20 1931.

Mrs. Wm. Funk and Mrs. Bert Fulton have been seriously ill and are now on the road to recovery. Ever so many of our members have had colds too.

Mrs. J. Swisher is ill at the present writing and we hope she will soon be well again.

Notice—Tinley Park Boy Scouts

The weekly meeting of Tinley Park Troop No. 1 will be held at American Legion Community Hall on Saturday evening instead of Friday. This is due to the fact that Scoutmaster Snodgrass will be unable to be present on Friday evening.

Any boy over 12 years of age who desires to become a Scout is urged to get in touch with Scoutmaster Snodgrass or Vice Commander Griswold of the American Legion.

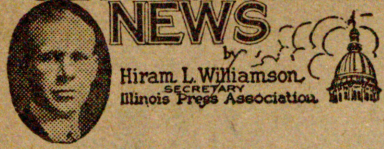

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Emancipator, savior of his country, lover of truth, and champion of mercy... the name of Abraham Lincoln is revered and loved by all humanity, regardless of race, creed or nationality. It is fitting that we should pause for a day from our labors to pay tribute to the great martyr who gave so much to his fellow man and to the country he loved and asked so little in return.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Reapportionment of Illinois under the 1930 census was one of the most important items before the Fifty-seventh general assembly during its fourth week. Senator Richard J. Barr presented a resolution creating a commission of nine members, three from the senate, three from the house and three to be appointed by the governor, to study the question and report back by April 15. A former resolution introduced by Senator Thomas J. Courtney was amended to conform to this resolution and adopted. Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg introduced a resolution in the house creating a commission of five members from each house to make the reapportionment while Representative Arthur Roe presented one limiting Cook county to 21 districts.

Answering recent allegations that $39,000,000 of available road funds were lying in the state treasury, the highway department through Director Harry H. Cleveland and Chief Engineer Frank T. Sheets, has issued a statement that the state really has overabundant its available road funds by $7,785,730. On January 1, 1931, there was available $3,427,536.96, and outstanding contracts call for $11,213,276.63. The department made the contracts in order to make the road work available for the unemployed during the winter and early spring.

The recent meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association passed several resolutions among them being the following: Opposing increasing the size of country school districts and opposing increase of distributive school fund unless income is derived from other sources than taxes; opposing giving cities one-third of gasoline tax; urging state-wide pasteurization of milk, with milk inspections in cities of 5,000 or over; opposing law requiring the vaccination of hogs by veterinarians; favor personal income tax as means of reducing tax burden on real estate; favor reapportionment of state if one house is constituted on territorial lines and one on population; favor exemption of tractors from carrying state license; urging high tariff on agricultural products and tax on agricultural products and tax on coconut oil used in coloring butter substitutes; opposing imports of starch products used as substitutes for corn products; and pledging support to the federal farm board.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson recently announced the appointment of former State Senator H. S. Hicks, of Rockford, as chief clerk and secretary of the Illinois tax commission, a place which has been vacant for some time.

A person employed in Illinois for more than six months in a year should procure an Illinois license for his automobile even though he maintains a residence in some other state. Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has written to T. J. Hickey, chief clerk of the state automobile department.

Secretary of State William J. Stratton has compiled the figures for the 1930 automobile licenses and announces that a total of $18,447,240 was received during the year, all of which has been turned over to the state treasury to be used exclusively for roads. This is an increase of $1,360,037 over 1929's collections. Saint Claire county with $405,536 leads the state outside of Cook county, which paid $7,721,814 for license fees during the year.

Director Stuart E. Pierson, of the Department of Agriculture, speaking at a reception held in Springfield recently for Arthur Poorman, state Legion commander, said that plans for Veterans' day at the 1931 state fair were under way, and he predicted that more would participate and the attendance would be larger than last year. The date of the event is Sunday, August 23. Films of the 1930 celebration are now available without cost for any local military organization in the state, and these show the various units in action and a general view of the aggregation in massed formation. They can be obtained by application to the division of educational exhibits, at Springfield.

Fred C. Dodds of Springfield has been appointed editor of the Welfare Bulletin, official publication of the state department of public welfare.

Amendment of the motor vehicle act in such a way that license plates will be numbered in alphabetical series is being sought by Senator Roy C. Woods of Chicago, each series to number from 1 to 99,999, the letter to precede the number on the plate.

Former Sheriff Oren Coleman, of Williamson county, has been appointed assistant superintendent of Pontiac reformatory by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. He assumed his office February 1. Mr. Coleman was a former school teacher and achieved fame by cleaning Williamson county of its notorious gangsters during the four years he held office.

Congressman Frank Ramey, of Illinois, has introduced a bill in congress for a new fish hatchery to be located in this state.

State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett recently sold $1,000,000 worth of Illinois 4 per cent waterway bonds to a Chicago firm, obtaining a premium of $12,050. This is the highest premium on record in the treasurer's office for 4 per cent bonds. About thirty bids were made for the bonds. This money will be used for construction of bridges over the Illinois waterway. Director Henry H. Kohn of the department of purchases and construction is expected to call for bids on the bridge as soon as the design is accepted.

Persons who wish to secure copies of the plays of the day, may borrow many of them from the library extension division of the state library. Among those now available for loan are "Elizabeth, the Queen," by Anderson; "Berkeley Square," by Balderson; "The Barrets of Wimpole Street," by Basier; "Green Pastures," by Connelly; "The First Mrs. Frasier," by Ervine; "The Criminal Code," by Flavin; "Best Plays of 1929-1930," by Mantle; "The Apple Cart," by Shaw.

The state department of welfare has inaugurated a recreational program in Jacksonville, with blind patients swimming and the mentally unbalanced skating and playing miniature golf. Similar activities are being set up in other state charitable institutions.

State Treasurer Edward J. Barrett has appointed several new employees in his office.

The state division of pardons and paroles is to be moved from the fourth floor of the state house to the building on Monroe street recently vacated by the highway department as soon as it can be made ready for occupancy. The commerce commission is to move this month to the Centennial building annex.

State Representative John Walker has offered a bill in the general assembly to establish a system for aiding war veterans in the purchase of homes and farms not exceeding $7,500 in value, the state to buy these first and resell to veterans on time payments. The law is patterned after a California measure.

A bill defining a public enemy and authorizing law enforcement officers to arrest them on sight has been introduced by Representative Michael L. Igoe of Chicago. It contains a provision that any deadly weapon found upon the person of such enemy may be introduced as evidence against him.

Any person renting a storage battery and selling it, removing identification marks, or retaining such battery in his possession longer than ten days without written consent of the owner, will find this is a misdemeanor if the bill introduced by Representative W. O. Edwards of Danville is passed by the legislature. It also provides that no person shall accept for recharge any rental battery except from the lawful owner.

Senator Earl B. Searcy has introduced senate bill 90 providing that laborers, workmen and mechanics employed on public works for the state or any municipal corporation shall receive not less than the prevailing rate of pay in the same trade or occupation in the locality where the public work is done. Eight hours, except in the case of emergency, is placed as the limit for a day's work.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has ruled that the request of the ex-service men for the erection of a field house and construction of an athletic field at the Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans home at Normal cannot be met without a special appropriation by the general assembly. Mr. Carlstrom held that the construction of such a field would be in the nature of a "permanent improvement" for which special legislation would be necessary.

Bids on the Dresden island lock and dam in the deep waterway at a cost of $848,541 have been opened, also a set of bids for the Brandon road lock just below Joliet. Col. W. C. Weeks, United States engineer in charge of the development, says the final link will be completed by the spring of 1933.

Flying over state, county, city or other correctional or penal institution will become a crime in Illinois unless the aviator is at a height over 1,000 feet, if the bill introduced by Senator James J. Barbour in the senate becomes a law.

David H. Jackson, in charge of the securities department under the secretary of state's office, has been speaking every Friday evening over WRO in Chicago, as a part of the campaign to prevent the sale of fraudulent securities in the state. He will continue for some time and may be heard at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

Out of his large collection of historical pictures, Herbert W. Fay, custodian of the Lincoln tomb, has sent 750 to Vancouver for display at the annual Lincoln day banquet in that city. The pictures are sent as a loan.

The house of representatives decided on January 28 to vote on the bill to repeal the search and seizure laws in Illinois on February 10. A debate lasting for five and one-half hours featured a recent session. Prominent speakers for and against the measure were heard during the debate.

SHALLOW CROWNS, NOVEL BRIMS AND SHINY STRAW IS HAT STYLE

IN CONSIDERING a new hat, the style-minded thing to do is to think in terms of shiny straws, shallow crowns and novel "push-back" brims. Crowns being shallow, the hat assumes an entirely different pose on the head from that of past seasons and brims take on decidedly new "lines." It would seem as if beauty doctors might count on doing a thriving business during the days to come since brows must be plucked and wrinkles and frowns must be smoothed out of foreheads, in order to wear the new "push-back" brims becomingly.

And when brims are not pushed demonstrated by the concluding number in this group.

Leading Up to Spring.

Here we are, quite a few of us, up North—who for reasons best known to ourselves are not spending the winter on sandy beaches under southern sunny skies—arrived at the crucial hour when the winter coat becomes irksome and we feel the urge to lay it aside in favor of a costume suited to lingering hurries of snow and cold, yet withal suggesting the lightness of spring.

What to do, ay, that's the question of many and many a woman who finds back from the face why then they are apt to adopt tricorn contours which rise abruptly from the forehead, in fact, they turn up all around after the manner of the first two shapes in the group pictured. Each of the two emphasize quite the newest thing in brims. The first hat has a satin crown with a brim made of the popular cellophane straw banding.

To the right at the top the model shown is also of satin and braid, using banding for the brim and shiny shoe satin for the crown.

The clever little hat to the left with its saucy brim deliberately pushed back so as to reveal as much of the forehead as possible, is one of the very new perforated felts which reminds one that eyelet effects are in fashion whether for frocks, hats or the fabric which makes the blouse.

Centered to the right in the group is herself placed in this dilemma during these temperamental midseason days which lead to spring. And just as most of us have arrived at a well-nigh point of despair, in steps Dame Fashion with a perfectly thrilling suggestion—a swanky tweed suit (interlined if the thermometer stays low) with which is worn a fetching accessory set, beret, scarf, muff and shoes made of velvet, as a pleasing change from the usual fur. See just such in the picture.

The trick is to relate the color of the velvet to a leading tone in the tweed—brown velvet, per example, responding to the brown which predominates in the weave of a brown-and-beige tweed. A black velvet set worn with a smart black-and-white tweed bespeaks the quintessence of chic.

Look about and you will find just such alluring velvet ensembled accessories in the better shops. But what a very interesting type as it shows the Watteau influence of which we are destined to hear much this season. As you know these little hats which appeared in so many Watteau paintings were as apt to have their wee brims turned up at the back as at the front or the side. In the model shown here, which, by the way, is of the new shiny rough straw which is "light as a feather," the brim is lifted off the face a la Watteau.

The next hat below to the left illustrates in no uncertain manner the effect of the new brims which are folded back off the brow, the brim widening decidedly at the back.

Even the new clothes show that tendency of width toward the back, their shallow crowns accenting the back-from-the-forehead movement, as of the woman with nothing to speak of in the way of an allowance to lavish on vanities which cost "a pretty penny" and then some? If her hand hath the cunning to fashion smart accessories for herself out of this or that, then the beret, the scarf and the muff is hers for the making—merely a matter of a yard of velvet (perhaps less), plus reliable patterns.

Lesson for February 15

JESUS THE FRIEND OF SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 7:36-50.

GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus and Those Who Do Wrong.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus and Wrongdoers.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of Sinners.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Transforming Sinners.

I. A Penitent Woman's Act of Love (vv. 37, 38).

1. The place (v. 37). It was in the home of Simon, the Pharisee, while Jesus was sitting at meat. When she knew of Christ's visit in this home, she came to lavish upon him her affections.

2. The act (v. 38). She washed Jesus' feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. Through some means she had heard of the pardoning grace of Jesus Christ and God had opened her heart to receive Jesus as her personal Savior.

3. Who she was (v. 37). Her name is not given. There is no good ground for assuming that she was Mary Magdalene. The implication is that she was of a notoriously bad character. Though known to the public as a bad woman, something had happened which transformed her. She was a saved sinner because she believed on Jesus Christ.

II. The Pharisee's Displeasure (v. 39).

Simon felt scandalized by such a happening at his table. He was a respectable man. For Jesus to tolerate such familiarity on the part of a woman of such evil repute greatly perplexed him. Though he believed in Jesus enough to invite him to dine with him, he questioned within himself as to whether, after all, he was not mistaken. He reasoned if Jesus were a real prophet, he would have known the character of this woman and would have either withdrawn his feet from her or thrust her back with them; or if he knew her character, his tolerance of such familiarity proved that he was not a good man.

III. Jesus Teaches the Pharisee (vv. 40-50).

He taught him by means of the parable of a creditor and two debtors. It is to be noted that Jesus made it very clear that he not only knew the woman but knew Simon also.

1. The common debt (v. 41). The woman was a sinner—so was Simon, though he was not the same kind of a sinner that she was. There were two debtors, though the one owed ten times as much as the other. This is still representative of all sinners. The Bible declares all to be sinners, yet recognizes degrees of guilt. Full credit ought to be given to the man who is honest, virtuous, generous, and kind, yet such a life will not secure entrance into heaven. Much harm has been done by even evangelical preachers through failure to recognize the essential differences in human character. On the other hand, the Savior's words are a severe rebuke to the respectable Pharisees who are sitting in judgment against sinners of a coarser type.

2. The common insolvency (v. 42). "And when they had nothing to pay," Jesus freely granted the difference in the degree of the woman's sins and those of the Pharisee, but drove home to him the fact that they were both debtors and had nothing with which to pay (Rom. 3:23). As sinners we may quit our sinning and hate our deeds but that does not make satisfaction for the sins of the past. What we have done is irrevocable—it has passed from our reach. Every transgression shall receive a just recompense of reward (Heb. 2:2). We must come to our Redeemer, the Almighty God, and acknowledge our insolvency and accept the kindness of Jesus Christ who bore our sins in his own body on the tree (1 Pet. 2:24).

3. The relation of forgiveness and love (vv. 44-50). Simon's reluctant answer to Jesus' question showed that he got the point of Jesus' teaching. In order to make his teaching concrete, Jesus turned to the woman, calling Simon's attention to what she had done in contrast to what he had done. Simon had neglected to extend to Jesus the common courtesies of a respectable guest, but this woman had lavished upon him her affections and gifts. The measure of one's love is determined by the measure of the apprehension of his forgiven. The one most forgiven will love most. Frequently the worst sinners make the best saints.

Doctor's 3 RULES
Big Help to Bowels

What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:

1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.

Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh, laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

Clean up that coated tongue, sweeten that bad breath, and get rid of those bilious headaches. A little Syrup Pepsin will soon free the bowels from all that waste matter that makes the whole system sluggish. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better.

You'll like the way Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin tastes. The way it works will delight you. Big bottles—all drugstores.

The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive

Low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation mean a distinct saving to every purchaser

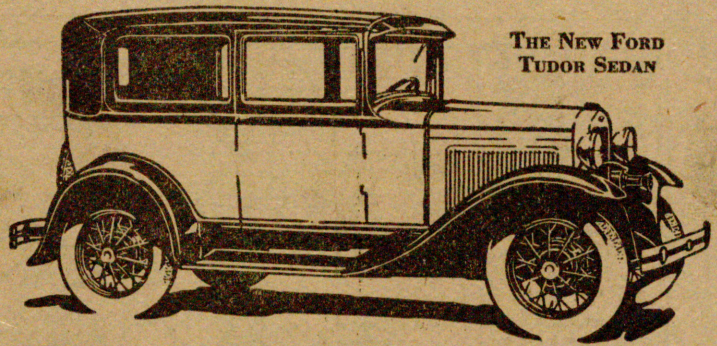

THE NEW FORD is a splendid car to own and drive because of its attractive lines and colors, safety, comfort, speed, reliability and long life.

There are, in addition, three other features of importance to every far-seeing automobile owner... low first cost, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

During the life of the car, the day-by-day economy of owning a Ford will amount to considerably more than the saving on the first cost. You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

The reasons for this economy are simplicity of design, high quality of materials and care in manufacturing and assembling. Many vital parts are made to limits of one one-thousandth of an inch. Some to three ten-thousandths of an inch. Throughout, the new Ford is an outstanding example of fine craftsmanship in automobile engineering.

The more you see of the new Ford—the more you talk to Ford owners and experienced mechanics—the more certain you become of this fact... It brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

"You can drive all day at 60...and your Germ-Processed won't thin out!"

How often have you heard, "I'll have to change oil early this time because of high speed driving"? It was quite the customary thing, until Conoco Germ-Processed Oil came along.

Now an all-day drive at a 60-mile speed brings no oil worries. You know that Germ-Processed oil won't thin out at high speeds; know, too, that it actually reduces motor operating temperatures because of the added "oiliness" produced by the Germ Process. The proof... at the Indianapolis and Altoona races at speeds up to 120 miles an hour and in numberless individual tests... is history now. Your own experience will add to the weight of the proof.

You need Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this day of high speed motors and high speed driving. You'll find it at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle... the proper grade for your car at 35¢ a quart.

Candlish Home Robbed; Cycle Thieves Caught

A mysterious robbery and stick-up occurred Thursday Feb. 5th at the Robert Candlish home at Hillcrest Dr., and Trumbull Ave., Markham.

At 11 A. M. two men drove up in a blue Chevrolet coupe. The colored house man answered the bell; one of the men put his foot in the door and struck the house man on the jaw. The negro rushed to the fireplace, picked up the poker, but found himself looking into the barrel of a gun.

The other "visitor" completely ransacked the house. Although he handled many valuables, nothing was taken, and the two drove away.

About 2:30 P. M. the car drove by again and the first three numbers 841—, were obtained from the license. One of the men is described as 5 ft. 6 in, 130 lbs., very freckled face, blue suit, gray cap, a snappy dresser. The other was 6 ft. 160 lbs.

MOTORCYCLE THIEVES CAUGHT

The same day Chief Terry arrested a local 16 year old boy and two Chicago youths, and recovered Tom. my Roach's motorcycle that was stolen last week.

The boy had bragged he was going to steal one; after questioning he confessed. The others were traced to Woodlawn and the north side. Stopping at a detective bureau they went with a squad to the Armory (catching three other youths stealing a car on the way, found their man and recovered the motorcycle.

Papers Attack Township Organization

"It is nothing but an attempt to disfranchise the voter, to further centralize government and take it from the hands of the people", was the vigorous reply of Supervisor Otto Ziebell to a reporter when shown a recent attack upon the township organization recently published in a Chicago paper.

The article mentioned said, in part: "The antiquated hierarchy of thirty useless township organizations among Cook county's patchwork of overlapping local governments is costing the county taxpayers nearly $1,000,000 a year!"

"Joseph L. Moss, director of the county life bureau of public welfare; Harry S. Cutmore, director of the reassessment, and Major George A. Quinlan, county superintendent of highways, all admitted yesterday that those township officials have been a hindrance rather than an aid to efficient administration and declared their offices ought to be abolished."

The article goes on to show a table of township taxes, giving Bremen as $30,389, with a total for the county of $934,596. Mr. Ziebell pointed out that the same services would need to be performed as were now being carried on, but that the cost would be much greater if under some appointed board or commission.

"There is no duplication except that created by the county board and the state legislature," went on the supervisor. "Appointive officers do not always represent the people, although some, like Cutmore, get $75 a day."

"The township officers are: the supervisor, who, in general, represents the township in state and county functions, he is chairman of the board of health, overseer of the poor, he enforces state laws in the township and is the chief conservator of the peace; in case of riot he notifies the sheriff or the governor."

"The township assessor makes the local assessments for taxation purposes; he is acquainted with local conditions, his services are less expensive than those of the so-called 'experts', local people know where to find him and are able to get in touch with him."

"Our town clerk is also a member of the board of health, he keeps the town minutes, records the town levies, and is the registrar of births, deaths and fires."

"The Justices of the Peace handle small local controversies and save congestion of the higher courts."

"Our constables, if honorable, are our best protection, because they are

Why No Relief From Governor's Commission?

Is it possible to get work for men from the country towns through the Governor's Commission? Reports in the last week indicate that no help can come from that source, as at least two local representatives have asked for work for the unemployed and were given no encouragement.

For some weeks some 60 or 70 men, mostly colored, have been sent from Chicago to work at Oak Forest. While they get only three days a week, the same men are said to be on the pay roll week after week. The county pays their transportation and furnishes the meals, we are informed; the Governor's Commission pays them $4.50.

The same condition exists in the forest preserves, including the Palos preserve, the workers, mostly Negro, all come from Chicago and get $4.50 a day from the Commission.

If only colored workers are acceptable, the people of Robbins (in the township) are wondering why they are ineligible.

As suburbanites are asked to contribute to the Commissions funds and in some cases almost forced to do so by their employers in Chicago, they are wondering what kind of a game it is that they must pay in but can get nothing out.

Seeking a statement from the Commission, the MESSENGER mailed a letter Monday, to that body asking if the country towns have been turned down by the Commission, and if so, why.

The latest report is that no more clothing will be available for township distribution.

directly responsible to the people.

"Our government was built from the foundation up; the foundation is rooted in self-government by local representatives. If it function right, there is nothing better. But if the foundation is pulled out from under us, the rest may topple."

According to Mr. Ziebell the 1930 township assessment is $20,000 for highways and $8,000 for other township expenses. The town will amount to about 7 cents per $100 assessed valuation; it is the lowest assessment except that for forest preserves. The town highway tax will amount to about 33 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Of course not all of this will actually be collected.

If $20,000 were collected for roads, the township would get about $10,000, as the rest would be turned over to the villages in the township; actually the township, under present condition, may get as low as $5,000

The Plains of Abraham

Junior Legion Band Entertains; Chaplain Speaks

By Mrs. Clare Moore

A very interesting meeting of the Midlothian P. T. A. was held in the auditorium of the new school Tuesday evening at 8 p. m.

Post 691 of the American Legion had charge of the splendid program. Edgar Spoerer, Commander, introduced fifteen youngsters, who, under the guidance of Mr. Nigro, formerly of Midlothian, gave a very nice concert. Some of the children were only ten years old, but they gave pleasing solos on various horned instruments. One lad sang two solos, another gave a violin selection, and still another did an amusing tap-dance.

This is the only Junior League Band in Illinois, and as they have been organized but twelve weeks, Mr. Nigro should have a great deal of credit for the splendid showing. In their white middie blouses and hats, with navy blue sailor trousers, they made a neat appearance. The audience was very appreciative.

In the absence of the Commander of the Fort Dearborn Post, Mr. Phillips explained just what the Legion Post stands for, and held up their own Boys Band as an example of the work they are trying to do. Their chief interest is to find something to hold the attention of the young boy enough to keep him off the streets and out of mischief.

MARKHAM PRESIDENT IN CRASH

President Oliver Walter of Markham Thursday evening crashed into Mr. Beach's car when driving south on Crawford. Mr. Walter's car received a smashed front; the other car had a smashed trunk rack and gas tank, and a broken rear window.

The Beach car had stopped to pick up three passengers when the crash occurred. Mr. Walter says no car light was burning. The pedestrians say it was burning.

Tom Davey, well known Chaplain of the Englewood Post gave an interesting talk on the history of Our Country. He also read Lincoln's letter to the Manchester cotton workers in which he stated that their strike aided materially in helping the North win the war.

At the short business meeting which preceded the program, the announcement was made that there would be election of officers at the next meeting on March 9.

ORGANDIE IN TRIUMPHANT MOOD; VOGUE FOR LINEN EXPANDING

ALL signs point to a season of triumph for organdie. Evening gowns, as created by leading French couturiers, are the sensation of the present season. Which is interesting, because of the fact that its employment for formal wear lifts organdie out of the simple-fabric-for-simple-frocks class to a position of flattering prestige.

So it is that organdie in white or colors is exceedingly smart just now for garden party, dine and dance frocks. Worked with lace it is even smarter. The latest whim of fashion is to mount the organdie frock on a lace foundation. The glimmer here and there of lace as revealed through the sheer organdie weave is fascinating.

In creating the gown in the picture the designer poses tiers of circular-cut organdie flounces in minor fashion over an all-lace foundation slip. When it comes to the quaint fitted bodice, for one brief moment the organdie is omitted in favor of the lace, emphasizing its presence, however, in the fashioning of the little puff sleeves. The huge hair hat also takes up the refrain of organdie in the way of a facing.

Attention is called to the belted-at-the-waistline ribbon with an old-fashioned round lace-bordered bouquet set prominently a bit to one side from whence falls the long streamers. Which goes to show that it is chic these days to dress as they did in the 1830s and thereabout. These naive little clusters of posies are also smart positioned at the front fastening of lingerie fichu and bertha collars, such as are complementing afternoon silk and light woolen frocks.

Organdie for the bridesmaid's frock is the "last word," either posed over lace or made up in most complicated ways, often with a view to achieving a slender silhouette, molding the figure, becoming bouffant below the knees so that the hemline at every move reveals its lace foundation. All nificant from a color as well as a fabric standpoint, for late reports from Paris stress the present and forthcoming vogue for brown, especially exceedingly dark tones.

Than the tailored suit of dark washable material there is nothing smarter this season, with emphasis placed on linen weaves. Jacket and skirt outfits of black linen are especially good-looking. The blouses worn with these sturdy linen two-pieces are of sheerest pastel linens and they are made very frilly and feminine.

In more senses than one this might very properly be referred to as a linen season, for everything is being made of pastel or the dark colored linens from suits, frocks, ensembles and the blouse to hats, handbags and even shoes, for linen pumps matching the sports costume have become a smart item for summer.

Enthusiasm for linen is that keen, women who know how to sew are buying patterns, which are easily available, for the big new floppy linen hats, making up a chapeau to match each of their sports linens. Directions for stitching the crowns and brims in the lovely "baby colors" are featured in these organdie frocks.

The color is usually carried into the large picturesque transparent hats via sashes of wide soft satin or velvet ribbon.

Organdie Is Popular.

The vogue for linen has now extended to the ensemble costume for town wear. The costume pictured is of brown Irish linen. It has a jacket nipped in at the waist and a skirt with pleated side panels, thus achieving the fashionable wide hemline. The blouse also is of linen—a very light handkerchief weight. Petaled tabs extend from the V-neck to the waistline. The hat likewise is of linen. It is all-over stitched and has a facing in contrasting color.

The fact that the jacket suit illustrated is of brown linen is very sig-novelty ways lead to very handsome effects for these hats, which add to their charm the practical quality of laundering to perfection.

Not only solid colored linens are sponsored but printed, also embroidered linens flourish in the mode. A black linen embroidered in little all-over motifs makes a stunning jacket suit or pirate blue with white, if color is desired.

The handkerchief linen blouse is a theme of wide interest, inviting a lavishness of fine fagoting or hemstitching or drawn work, or it may be made up strictly tailored. The most popular sheer linen blouses are in pastels and have huge ruffled or petaled collars designed to wear over the jackets.

Turkey Business on Stable Basis

Heretofore Industry Has Been Regarded as Side
Issue and Gamble.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Turkey raising in the United States has been regarded as a side issue and a gamble, but increasing knowledge of parasitic diseases and their control is putting the industry on a more stable basis, says A. R. Lee, poultry husbandman of the United States Department of Agriculture. "There are now more than three and a half million turkeys on farms in this country, and they constitute 1½ per cent of all poultry. The 1929 crop of market turkeys indicated a decided advance in the business as compared with 1928. The estimated increase was about 9 per cent."

Information Needed.

In recognition of the increased interest in turkeys and the need for further information concerning parasitic diseases, the United States Department of Agriculture has established a foundation flock of turkeys at the United States range experiment station at Miles City, Mont. This work got under way last spring. Of 600 birds raised last season, 300 were selected for the breeding flocks. Everett E. Wehr, a research worker, is devoting all his time to the investigation of parasitic diseases. The work at this station will also include a study of the comparative cost of raising turkeys in confinement and on free range.

The flock was established by purchasing hatching eggs which were incubated artificially. The young birds were brooded in special brooder houses with clean yards until they were about eight weeks old. The investigators took these precautions to prevent infestations of the poult by such parasites as are introduced by adult turkeys. When large enough to range the young poult were provided with large fenced lots and inexpensive shelters for roosting.

Modern Improvements.

"Modern improvements in mechanical means of hatching and brooding have done much to develop the turkey industry," Mr. Lee says. "Day-old poult are now produced by commercial hatcheries and shipped by parcel post in much the same manner as baby chicks. Artificial brooding has been of particular value in preventing losses from blackhead disease which at one time threatened to destroy the industry."

Research workers have determined that this disease is caused by a parasite which cannot live long in soil, but which may be transmitted in the egg of another parasite, the cecum worm. The blackhead parasite survives for long periods in the worm egg. As both turkeys and chickens may have blackhead, usually in a chronic form in mature birds, and as both may also have cecum worms, prevention of the acute, destructive form of blackhead in young turkeys calls for rearing on clean ground away from chickens and older turkeys.

Edible Period of Many Vegetables Lengthened

Many of our best vegetables are edible for a very short period of time. For example, sweet corn is used for food only when it is in the roasting ear stage. When past this stage it cannot be used. The same is true of such crops as beans, peas, lettuce, spinach, radishes and many others. The edible period of such vegetables can be greatly lengthened by a succession of plantings at different dates. For example, if a row or two of sweet corn is planted every two weeks from early in May until the first of July, the roasting ear season will be extended from two to three weeks to nearly two months. This succession of plantings can be practiced for many other vegetables as well with the result that the fresh vegetable season will be greatly lengthened.

Human Deaths From Rat Poison Are on Decline

At the second annual conference of the Eastern Rodent-Control district, held in Washington, it was reported that clippings from thousands of newspapers throughout America indicated a material decline in the number of accidental human deaths from rat poison during 1929.

Since the sales and use of exterminators have not decreased, the conference concluded that the diminishing death rate is due to the increased, nation-wide use of powdered red squill, which is unique as an exterminator in that it is deadly to rats live stock, dogs, cats, poultry and mice but harmless to humans, and even baby chicks. It is highly recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Oats Grown With Wheat as Succotash Are Good

There is a very common notion that oats grown with wheat as a succotash are not good for seed. Just what the foundation of this notion is no one seems to know. There is nothing in the association of the wheat with the oats to in any way disturb its inheritance and it therefore is just as good for seed as oats that have been grown alone. The main difficulty in using such grain for seed lies in thoroughly separating the wheat and oats so that a clean crop can be raised.

Muskmelons May Pay Well on Local Market

Any Garden Soil Is Suitable for Good Crop.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Muskmelons produced locally and sold in small towns and on roadside markets could often be grown to advantage in small acreages in many parts of the country, according to Farmers' Bulletin 1468-F entitled "Muskmelons," recently revised by the United States Department of Agriculture and available to anyone requesting it. The country's carlot markets are well supplied from the big producing centers, but local growers in many sections can advantageously produce and sell melons on the smaller markets which are now not fully supplied by the carlot movement, says the author, W. R. Beattie, horticulturist of the bureau of plant industry.

Well drained, warm, sandy-loam or silt loam soils are best adapted to melon growing although some of the finest melons grow on sandy river bottoms and rich clay loams. Mr. Beattie points out. Warmth, drainage, abundance of quickly available plant food and humus are essential for success. Any garden soil is suitable for melons grown for home use.

Insect pests and diseases are the greatest obstacles to muskmelon growing, according to the bulletin. This crop must be rotated, appearing not oftener than once in five or six years on the same land and with no related vine crops in the rotation if the soil is to be kept uninfested. Seed treatment and dusting or spraying will be necessary for success, the bulletin points out.

The author also comments on varieties and types of melons best suited to the local markets and home gardens, on the preparation of soil, cultivation, harvesting and packing of melons. In established melon growing sections the most urgent need is for improvement of quality and standardization of packs, says Mr. Beattie.

Requests for Farmers' Bulletin 1468-F should be addressed to the Office of Information United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Selecting Dairy Sire on Basis of Past Records

In selecting a dairy bull on the basis of the records of his ancestors consideration should be given to the conditions under which the records were made, says the United States Department of Agriculture. An investigation by the Bureau of Dairy Industry at Beltsville, Md., showed that when cows were milked and fed three times a day instead of twice, confined in box stalls instead of in stanchions, fed enough to make them fat instead of keeping them in ordinary flesh, and bred to freshen at intervals of 15 months instead of 12 the production was increased 50 per cent.

A herd improvement association record of 400 pounds of butterfat, if made under ordinary farm conditions, the bureau says, is equal to an advanced registry or register of merit record of 600 pounds.

Bordeaux Mixture Good Spray for Leaf Hopper

Bordeaux mixture has been found to be an effective remedy for the control of the potato leaf hopper and the disease known as "hopper burn" which accompanies attack by this pest, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Leaf hoppers may migrate from the early to the late crop, and spraying should begin when the pests first appear. The spray should be a fine mist and should thoroughly cover the plants, including the undersides of the leaves. Each side of every row should be sprayed. When leaf hoppers are abundant, three applications should be made, and four are sometimes necessary in hot, dry summers. Dusting with commercial copper-lime dusts is also effective.

Agricultural Notes

Make sure that growing heifers have plenty of fresh, pure water at all times.

Cows should be removed from the pasture several hours before milking if their milk is known to contain the off flavor produced by weeds and plants.

No purchase of vitamin rich feeds is necessary where the proper amounts of good alfalfa are fed, say about one pound to every 100 pounds live weight, in a balanced ration.

Where milk is sold it is usually more convenient to cool it at once after milking. It is true that bacteria do not begin to increase rapidly in milk till from two to four hours after milking.

Dairy farmers may help improve the price of cream by consuming more butter and dairy products. Temporary overproduction may be corrected by selling for slaughter all low producing and unprofitable cows.

Efficient separators deliver skim milk that tests below 2 per cent. When the fat content of skim milk reaches 5 per cent there is a preventable loss of three pounds of butterfat in 1,000 pounds of skim milk delivered by the separator.

Odd Penalty Inflicted for Picking Tree Leaf

Every leaf you pluck costs you a piece of your shirt!

This stringent and fantastic penalty was exacted for violating the protection bestowed by an emperor on a tree. The tree was an ancient lime tree that stood in the town of Adelsheim in Baden, Germany, and the Emperor Ruprecht decreed its perpetual protection in 1401. So strong was the tradition of this medieval enactment that even at the beginning of the Nineteenth century offenders were still penalized for plucking twigs or leaves; although a modification of the original rule, almost as fantastic as the emperor's whimsical decree itself, let offenders off with whole shirts if they would buy ribbons and tie them to the tree.

By 1867, however, the tree had declined to such a ruinous state that it had to be cut down, and for 50 years or so its place stood empty. Now, however, a new lime tree grows where the "Emperor's Tree" once stood.—Kansas City Star Science Service.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

Victory for Eagles

After two years of warfare against a representative of Uncle Sam two bald eagles stand victorious with Uncle Sam's agent in full retreat. The latter, a telegraph operator, has been stationed atop a 40-foot pole to register the shots fired from the naval station at Dahlgren, Va. Upon this perch the eagles built their nest and a conflict has been raging for possession, with the operator forbidden from shooting the birds under a penalty of a $50 fine. So he retreated to a new pole, conceding victory to the eagles.

Nonsense

Jean Assolant, the French airman, said at his wedding breakfast in Old Orchard:

"Everybody ought to get married. Most people's excuses for not marrying are as nonsensical as Sir Thomas Lipton's."

"Sir Thomas, you know, said to the Dolly sisters:

"Yes, I'm a bachelor, and I'm going to remain one, for you know, my dears, married men make the worst husbands."

Her Need

Little Betsy had been ill, and with the privilege of an invalid, demanded so much of her mother's time and attention that her older brother, Fred, was a trifle annoyed. One day when Betsy had kept her devoted parent reading aloud to her until she was almost hoarse, Fred remarked succinctly: "Well, mom, I think what Betsy needs is a 'talking picture of you.'"

Pathetic Reunion That

Has Film Outclassed

Stranger than fiction and more moving than a film is a story which comes from Saint Omer, France. The scene is a cafe at Quivrehain. Among the customers is an elderly woman. A miner enters. He has a story to tell. He relates how his father abandoned his mother in this very same village of Quivrehain in 1885, and took him to America when he was three years of age. His father died shortly after his arrival, and he was adopted by Poles, who made a miner of him. Eventually he returned to France, working in a pit at Hensles and passing as a Polish miner. The elderly woman put questions, and the miner was astonished when the woman jumped up in great excitement and declared that he was not a Pole, but a Frenchman, and that he was her son, taken from her 44 years ago.

The POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY with their home office in a two story brick building at 221 South Chicago Street in Joliet, Illinois has for more than 30 years been one of the biggest and most well known general contracting and engineering firms of the middle west. This concern has a capital of $350,000 besides unlimited financial resources.

Their own yards and shops are located on Rowel Ave. adjacent to the right of way of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Ry. Co. Here will be found a shop that houses an entire trainload of equipment. R. R. tracks bring their equipment from the E. J. and E. Ry. R. Companies roads directly into this shop where over 50 men are employed the year around to keep this equipment in first class condition and to build new equipment as designed by the POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION for their own use. Through these arrangements this construction company is able to reach any railroad that enters Chicago and therefore can with a minimum of expense ship their entire equipment to any part of the United States.

The POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION CO. is an acknowledged leader whose reputation as a general construction firm has spread over the entire country.

Their name stands for a reputation of quality and reliability in the contracting and engineering work of the country. They have won a warm place in the heart of the public through the excellent work they have executed in every branch of the contracting business.

Road construction has become one of the most important items of our local, county, state and national budget today. The country knows the necessity of pavements and bridges that will endure the ravages of time and the ever increasing wear and destructive elements that tend to disintegrate the best of pavements in a short time. With buses, trucks and motor cars increasing by leaps and bounds each year, it becomes more necessary to produce pavements that will last for years and years. Any construction company can build roads and bridges but as men vary in their quality of work that they produce so do construction companies vary in the quality of roads and bridges that they build. The POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY have built more than 200 miles of concrete pavement within a radius of a hundred miles of Joliet and these miles of roads stand as permanent monument to their honesty in keeping faith with the public. These miles of roads are a result of their knowledge of engineering skill and honesty in using the best quality of materials and in using the right mixture of the same.

In 1928 this company paved the entire city of Barrington, 1927 the entire village of Bensenville and constructed the gutters and curbs at the time of the laying of the pavement. The concrete road of more than six miles between Midlothian and Tinley Park was completed in 1922. The City of Morris, Village of Lake Zurich, Town of Manhattan, and many other places in Cook, Du Page and Will Counties are the beneficiaries of the character of the paving as laid by the POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY.

Few people in and surrounding JOLIET have realized the tremendous engineering feat accomplished by the POWERS-THOMPSON CONSTRUCTION COMPANY in constructing the main sewer for the city of JOLIET.

Engineers came from all over the world to see and study this engineering and construction feat. The government of Russia sent its engineers to study the unique and extremely important methods of construction and engineering introduced by this firm in their 3500 foot tunnel driven under the streets and buildings of Joliet. The tunnel was 23 feet underground and was in diameter ranging from 60 to 72 inches. This long tunnel was drilled through solid rock by a specially constructed tower drill, the first of its kind ever used anywhere. By this construction a single driller was able to do 300 feet of drilling in an eight hour shift while under old methods the same driller had to be content with a small fraction of this amount. The reason of this extensive tunneling was first that it reduced the expense of construction and thereby saved the city of JOLIET many thousands of dollars for the reason that this company was able to take this job far under their competitive bidders. And no one can estimate the savings to the people of JOLIET by this construction company in not blocking the traffic and not creating nuisance and dirt on the streets.

The sewer when completed was 6500 feet long and the entire amount of casings used were constructed in JOLIET labor. This project will for years stand as one of the most unique and important sewer constructions in the entire country.

People watch a community grow, much as this community has grown; they see large buildings go up, almost as if over night, and yet they do not take into account the skill, the effort and the far-sightedness necessary to accomplish that construction on achievement.

Few realize the effort, the labor, the understanding of all condition necessary for successful construction work. Not a few of the business and industrial buildings, bridge, parks, dams, reservoirs, excavations, etc. of this country are the work of this well known company. In 1926 POWERS-THOMPSON CO. completed construction of Two Polo grounds, concrete drives, Barns and leveling up and beautifying the grounds owned by Mr. John L. Hertz, formerly head of the Yellow Cab Co., Chicago and U-Drive-It Company at his estate and summer home near Cary, Illinois.

Such achievements on the part of this company have not left them unrecognized in business and financial circles of the community. In these circles none stand higher. But this is not all. They not only serve their community eight or ten hours a day in their business; but a great deal of their time outside working hours is given to projects for the betterment of this city and community. Leadership in many civic advances can be credited to them.

This is one of the strongest and most popular life insurance companies in the country, being operated by insurance experts and enjoys a large and increasing patronage in the community. The universal success of this company is due mostly to the fact that it appreciates this large volume of business. Since their inception they have always been at the service of patrons and at all times ready and willing to give any information desired and assuring all people that there is no obligation.

Life insurance offers the advantages of protection, but also usually meets the requirements of some future day. It is a business investment, a worthwhile way to save your money. You can easily pay for a child's college education by carrying a policy on them for the amount of the educational cost. In this way the cost is strung over a period of years. Most business men carry insurance and if in debt (to the amount of their obligations) so in case of death their loved ones have no debts hanging over their heads. The farmer should also protect his loved ones in like manner and more especially if in debt. When the man, the head of the family, is taken away he cannot be replaced, but insurance will leave an income for the family.

Not long ago some statistics on estates were taken and it was found that in money left after death by Americans, 87 per cent came from insurance and only 13 per cent from other sources. There is no question but what this is the day and age when insurance is the essential necessity of every individual.

OLD COLONY LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY has an enviable record for years of service to the people. They have proven through years of satisfactory service that your patronage has been well merited. Insure today that your loved ones will be provided for tomorrow is usually too late.

As the purpose of this review edition is to give the outside world an adequate idea of our social, industrial, artistic and educational progress we deem it quite appropriate to call the attention of the public to the efficiency and great work that is being carried on at the ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY.

There is nothing more important to the onward progress of the American community than an educational service of this kind, presided over by people of local prominence, who make a study of educational needs. Specializing in this work the heads of this school are authorities on selected training and being here at home give advice to the young people on this subject that guides them safely.

The ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY is located close to the city yet far enough away so that the noise, din and smoke will not interfere with the students. It is conveniently located; almost every accommodation and convenience as well as good class rooms and assembly halls have been provided.

The ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY is under the direction of Sisters of St. Francis and too much emphasis cannot be placed upon sending the youth to Christian institutions. The Christian schools and colleges are responsible for much of our brilliant civilization of today.

The ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY is an essential development of all the surrounding country. Its growth has been the result of admirable policies followed in their direction and it has merited the large patronage it receives today and the prominent position it holds in the cultural work of this part of the country. Each day has seen its service become of more essential value and today it is indispensable to the community.

Well-Drilling Expert

Mr. Anderson is absolutely dependable for this work.

Every farmer and stock raiser knows what it means to him and his farm to have a constant flow of pure water on it. Sometimes such a running well comes without assistance, but in most cases it is necessary to drill considerably for them. In this respect let us introduce ROY ANDERSON in JOLIET.

It makes no matter what problems you may have along these lines, you can depend upon the advice and information of this expert. In the early days we formed pools or basins in which to collect water screened through the sand and gravel. Then with the aid of bucket and rope we would bring it to the surface for drinking and cooking. In time we discovered that such wells also drained matter from the top soil and germs soon filled our well, so instead of drinking health we were soon drinking disease.

Today I am sure none would think of drinking out of an open well or basin unless it was fresh spring water with a constant flow. With a modern well drilled to distant depths we get below the water line and in time the water strains through several layers of sand and gravel, giving us at the top of the well a healthy almost scientifically pure water.

Possibly you can have a running well on your property. At least you can employ ROY ANDERSON in JOLIET to start drilling for same. Sometimes it is obtained at a reasonable depth, but in most cases it takes a deep well to produce a good flow of water.

In many well drained sections people are fortunate to be able to pump with power pumps at great depths any water at all. So we should be grateful to find water so near the surface.

As a nation we must depend upon adequate water supply, so must we depend upon master well drillers to supply the convenience. We consider their profession most worthy in this Farmers' and Business Men's Review.

The next time you are in need of flowers, wire, phone or write and your order will be forwarded by parcel post.

We suggest to all readers, the next time they are in town, pay a visit to VAUREK FLORISTS, INC., to see the broad scope covered in handling the complete service of floral designs for every occasion.

Duties of Hunting Dog

A dog should not be taught to bring in the game to his master, says an expert. The reason for this is that when the dog points where the hunter gets the game, it is extremely annoying to have the dog dashing back and forth looking for the game and bringing it to the master. In the case of birds, if the dog goes after the first bird killed he will usually frighten the rest of the flock, giving the hunter a poor chance of bringing down a great number.

Potato Dealers
Any Amount From A Sack To A Carload—Seed and Eating Potatoes Any and Every Variety

A progressive JOLIET institution does a wholesale and retail business in potatoes. Being wholesale buyers they offer the retail trade a high quality of potatoes at more attractive prices than otherwise would be possible. Provides a large stock for the people of the surrounding country to select from—truly a valued business asset.

It has been their endeavor to always furnish the very best of potatoes and it has brought them business from every point. Both old and new customers are urged to use the phone when they find that more convenient, and if an order is given it is supplied on the same day it is received.

The fact that their trade extends over all adjoining counties, this is their special field, brings new faces, new business and adds prosperity to the city in which they are located.

Their products will be found in the leading stores. The story of the success of this firm is one that many business men would find profitable reading. The firm began its career with the belief that success could be obtained by furnishing potatoes upon a reasonable margin of profit with service. With this method in mind and reduced expenses and on account of their location, they proceeded upon their career upon the solid foundation of good values and reasonable prices.

Because of the high quality of potatoes handled, this well known concern has gained for this section a commercial prestige as an excellent market for retailers that could be gained in no other manner.

If you want anything in this line, telephone them or call at their establishment, and you can depend on it that this well known firm will see that you get it.

THE A. M. PENNEY COMPANY in JOLIET have been closely allied with the large business interests of this section of the state for some time, and have been instrumental in upbuilding this section of the country, and the institution should receive the patronage of the entire people.

MEATS, GROCERIES, FRUITS, VEGETABLES, SEEDS AND PETS—DEALERS IN HOGS & POULTRY—MANUFACTURERS OF "JIM DANDY" PRODUCTS

Our edition would not be complete from an industrial and commercial standpoint without prominent mention of THE J. C. ADLER CO., who are rendering the farmers and poultry raisers of this section a valuable service.

THE J. C. ADLER CO. aids in no little measure the progress and prosperity of this section, and undoubtedly is one of the most popular buyers of hogs and poultry in this part of ILLINOIS, and daily receive many consignments from the farmers and poultry raisers in this part of the state.

This is a business in which two of the most important features are "Reliability and Magnanimous Service." It is because this firm gives the most painstaking service to their patrons that they have witnessed the yearly increase in the number of local people shipping to their establishment at JOLIET.

The farmers and poultry raisers of the community have come to know that this is one firm upon which they can depend, and hence they turn over the marketing of their hogs and poultry to them. A special feature with the J. C. ADLER CO. is the "Furnishing of Market Quotations," and in this department you will find "Courtesy and accommodation" always in evidence.

You are urged to call them at any time, and the latest and most authoritative quotations are at your service.

Another feature of this establishment is in the preparing of their "Jim Dandy" meat products for the market. Buying only the best of hogs and preparing it in a most painstaking and sanitary manner for their trade, and being the only packing establishment in WILL County, have won for them a reputation among the buying public as the firm that "Delivers the Best of Goods."

This paper wishes to compliment the J. C. ADLER CO. of JOLIET upon the valuable service they are furnishing the people of this community, and to give them a place among the concerns in this section who are aiding in the progress and prosperity of Northern ILLINOIS.

WOODRUFF RIDING STABLES is one of the very best riding schools and one that is aiding the public in the pursuit of outdoor sports and recreations.

In this age of indoor life and when people do not exercise properly it is necessary for the good of the race and its onward progress for people to take proper exercise so that the race will not become weakened and die out. The only way to do this is to engage in a sport like riding which offers interest and pleasure as well as exercise in the great outdoors and in man's natural habitat. Especially should children be taught to ride early and they will not be afraid of horses if they are broken in on trained horses and ponies. These mounts are safe and well trained and parents can feel absolutely safe in letting their children come to this riding school.

They offer excellent courses in riding and teach not only the elementary principles of the sport but turn out finished riders.

They have an excellent stable of horses and can furnish you with any kind of mount you desire. These horses are all trained and people experience little trouble in handling them. The horses are equipped with saddles and bridles that are attractive and when you mount in your riding habit you will present a picture that would be worth-while snapping.

In this review we are glad to compliment WOODRUFF RIDING STABLES OF JOLIET upon the part they are playing in the elevation of the physical standard of the race and the promotion of sport and would suggest that everyone drop in and see them and learn to ride.

ALBERT P. HERATH, DIRECTOR

Music taught in all its branches at this popular JOLIET MUSICAL COLLEGE.

Not long ago a great Eastern capitalist who knew not a note of music, who never sang a song or played a musical instrument in his life gave millions of dollars as an endowment of a school of music. He also sponsored an opera company; he subsidized an orchestra. George Eastman said he wanted people to appreciate music. He was looking forward to the time, he said, when people would have more time to devote to the finer arts. When that time came, he declared, this country and the world would be a more fit place in which to live. Even though he neither played nor sang, he was a lover of good music.

Eastman knew that if more people secured fine musical training they would be able to carry that appreciation to many other people with whom they daily came in contact. Musical training, like any fine quality, given to one would spread to thousands.

What George Eastman is able to do in a very large way the JOLIET MUSICAL COLLEGE is able to do for this community. The editors of this paper have been particularly interested in schools of music developments throughout the country. They can safely say that they have never found a more up-to-date and modern music school than the JOLIET MUSICAL COLLEGE.

Parents of the community ought indeed to appreciate the high quality of musical training which their children are able to receive right in their own community. Few communities have such advantages. And it speaks well for the artistic appreciation of the people of this community that they do patronize so strongly this high quality school of music.

No institution, certainly, could take a finer and more active part in community life than the JOLIET MUSICAL COLLEGE. Public recitals are given regularly but this is not all. No community project of a commendable nature has been attempted but this school contributed its talent. People have learned to depend on it to fill out and even make up programs. In every way it is that type of community institution which gives real tone to our part of the state. Their representative teachers are also representative teachers in the large music schools in Chicago, and we refer them to all wishing a musical training.

This JOLIET company turns out a completely finished product, which is sold from coast to coast.

This is a modern twentieth century industry under the able direction of men who have always had at heart the best interests of the community in which their valued enterprise is located and one of the firms that keeps the wheels of progress turning in this section.

This is one of our most flourishing industries and is fully worthy of more than passing notice at our hands for not only is it one of the leading concerns engaged in its special field of endeavor in the country, but its products have gained a wide reputation for general excellence and are considered a standard product among the trade the country over.

It may be of interest to know that the idea of this enterprise originated in the resourceful minds of energetic business men. With a restless ambition, a broad vision of the future of the industry of the country, they turned their trained and creative minds to the production of perfect products.

Today it is one of the most substantial concerns engaged in this manufacture in the country and its phenomenal growth is the result of hard work on the part of its officers.

Expansion plans gave this company one of the most modern plants in the country. It is one of our busiest bee-hives of industry. It is a model establishment of its kind and is an ideal place to work.

We could write many columns and then not tell you of all the good that this modern industrial concern has done for JOLIET. It has become so much a part of the every day life of the people of the community that many have come to regard it as a "matter of course." It is well to pause occasionally and consider what the ILLINOIS WIRE & MFG. CO. means to us.

To maintain it means the continuous encouragement of all in the community, the assured expansion of JOLIET and vicinity and the onward progress of industrial, commercial and social development.

We cannot fail to compliment this progressive concern upon the manner in which it conducts its industry and to say it has been a decided factor in the industrial life of the community.

This is one of the best equipped foundry firms in this locality, transacting a large business in the manufacturing of brass, bronze and aluminum castings and new parts, being devoted exclusively to foundry work and excelling in every branch of this important service which adds to the industrial efficiency of this section of Illinois.

There is no one industry more worthy of extended mention in this review than this well known institution. Under direction of a management conversant with every feature of the business it is not strange that it has become one of the most important industrial assets of the community.

By dint of hard labor and the unflinching determination to master every detail of this calling, they have earned a training in the intricacies of the profession that constitutes them an authority upon all subjects pertaining to this trade. Well versed in all the technical theory of their business, they have merited the position that they have attained as experts, so no matter what problem you have in this work, they can evolve the solution which will operate to your best advantage.

Concerns requiring large quantities of grey iron, castings and any alloy castings often find it difficult to find a reliable source of supply where they can obtain a continuous and uninterrupted flow of good castings that are uniform in strength, and at the same time, soft enough to machine economically. We are very fortunate in having such a plant in our midst that can be depended upon to produce this class of goods.

They do a general foundry business and the superiority of their work is well known throughout this section, especially among manufacturers.

They employ a number of people in their plant, many of whom are most highly skilled workmen and thus the trade has the advantage of the work of men who have spent the better part of their lives at the trade. This concern has proven to be one of the most valued additions to the industrial organization of the community and has become one of our leading and most substantial enterprises.

In making this review of the onward progress of our county we wish to compliment the RICHARD SEELEY FOUNDRY CO., in JOLIET upon having the efficiency of the plant and to direct our readers' attention to it when in need of anything in the line.

This organization pays back all earnings to the farmers, thereby keeping all profits in the community.

Because of the great volume of business transacted through their extensive establishment, and because of the up-to-date business methods of the firm, and the high grade products handled, this well known concern has gained for this section a commercial prestige through their service.

Through the channels of trade of this well known oil concern thousands of dollars are brought into this section each year through the trade channels, presided over by this well known house and a number of people are also given employment by this concern. The fact that their trade extends over all the community, this is their special field, brings new faces, new business and adds prosperity to the city in which they are located.

Their products will be found in demand by all who insist on the best. Quality products have always been the policy of this well known oil concern. It has seen other firms rise in a burst of publicity and promise only to sink into the commercial oblivion which is the reward of all dealers who devote more time and attention to sensational selling methods than to quality products. While keeping thoroughly abreast of the times, this house has ever believed that when a patron asked for a special grade of motor oil or gasoline he should get that particular oil and they have made it their invariable policy to see that he got it. No matter what grade of motor oil you desire in their line the trade has come to understand that when it comes from this house it was of the very highest quality at the most reasonable price the market permitted.

Each department of this well known concern is in charge of a man thoroughly conversant with wholesale and retail business conditions of the country while the management is in charge of a man of wide experience in the buying world and this firm has become one of the most valued of our commercial assets. JOLIET

The COLLEGE OF ST. FRANCIS and ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY, JOLIET, ILLINOIS, open to resident and day students, are under the direction of the Sisters of St. Francis of Mary Immaculate, pioneers in the field of education in JOLIET and vicinity.

The sisterhood was established in JOLIET in 1865. Four years later ST. FRANCIS ACADEMY was opened. The community obtained a charter from the State of Illinois in 1874 to conduct "a seminary of learning for young ladies." In connection with the academy a Normal School was in operation for the training of the sisters. In 1920 the charter was amended to read "college of liberal arts, science, and fine arts."

Under the title of Assisi Junior College, regular courses in the college department were opened to the public in 1925. The college has been accredited to the University of Illinois with rating in class A, and recognized by the State Department of education at Springfield, Illinois.

With the opening of the fall term in September, 1930, the senior college curriculum began to operate under the new title, College of St. Francis, the only Catholic Senior College for Young Women in Illinois, outside the city of Chicago.

Through the progressive efforts of the Sisters of ST. FRANCIS the young women of this state are offered educational advantages of the highest type. It is not often that cities like JOLIET can boast of such an up-to-date institution as this one. Not only can the young women of this country secure here a general education, but through this college they can prepare themselves for their life's work.

The Faculty of the Senior College is progressive, able and efficient and have built for themselves and college a reputation of accomplishment and their untiring efforts merit liberal support from the people of the State of Illinois, as it has in no small measure contributed to the fame and prosperity not only of JOLIET and WILL COUNTY but the entire Middle West.

The college and academy are located in the most picturesque spot of JOLIET, on the Lincoln Highway. JOLIET is but an hour's ride from Chicago, easily reached by several railways, including the electric railway. Bus lines also furnish comfortable accommodations.

With progressive establishment in JOLIET have extended the reputation of this firm through this entire section of the state by the excellency of their boiler works.

Some line of work, more than others, need be done with the most exacting care. So expert must a boiler engineer be that he can hardly make a mistake. This is the high standard reached by this well known firm of boiler manufacturers and installers. Early in their careers, the workmen employed here became master boiler makers, an attainment which marks a man as an expert who never fails.

Furthermore they have become experts in judging and estimating the amount of work to be done on a particular job, telling how long it will take to do it and approximately what the cost will be. As an added measure, all work from this shop is guaranteed and if not satisfactory may be returned at the expense of the firm.

Reliability is another characteristic of the service. If one of these experts advises you about a boiler, you may depend on his word. If a boiler part can be repaired instead of having a whole new boiler put in, this firm will tell you so. On the other hand, if a piece can not be repaired, these workmen will not attempt to do it.

This shop is prepared to install all kinds of boilers and their boiler installations represent the finest expressions of modern heating science. They install only the finest made boilers, having back of them many years of research work and a rigid standard of quality manufacturing. It matters not what your need is, whether it be the installation or repair of a boiler in a small home or in a large factory or public building, this firm can meet your needs.

Many building contractors have learned to depend absolutely upon this company for the installation of boilers and heating equipment in large business buildings as well as new homes which are being erected. Their ability in this field has earned for them the well merited name of leader.

Manufacturers as well as some owners have learned by much experience that when this firm tells the mthat a certain piece of work will be done on time it will be done.

There is always a need in the community for men who will do their work well. The experts in the HEGGIE SIMPLEX BOILER CO. representing that type of men. They are not satisfied with doing their work well, but they must live well their parts as citizens to the community.

They are excellently located and are places where one can park, have the car loaded, drive away and not be inconvenienced by traffic jams.

STATE MARKETS seeing the drift of trade from the congested area has established stores that are gaining in patronage every day and now is so busy that all goods are turned quickly which makes both for lower prices and for new and fresh stock. This volume of business enables them to better deal with the wholesale firms and accures to the benefit of the public.

These well known markets strike the keynotes in modern life as people do not want to spend all the money they take in for meats and provisions, but want to have money left for other pleasures of life.

In this review we are glad to compliment them as people who make a continual study of the food problems of the day and as conducting a store that is in advance of the times. We would advise anyone having trouble with the food problem in any way to visit STATE MARKETS and make the family happy by furnishing them with pure meats and a balanced meal.

"A GOOD PLACE TO EAT"

RIALTO CAFETERIA RESTAURANT CO. in JOLIET is known as the home of good food, real service and most reasonable prices.

It makes no difference if we eat to live or live to eat—we must have the proper kind of food to be healthy and enjoy life. When we eat at home a meal is what we make it, but away from home it is usually what we get, except at the RIALTO CAFETERIA where you can choose what food you wish—as much as you wish—with a great variety from which to select.

It is human nature to be different and this makes it against our will to have others choose what we shall eat. Possibly you like plenty of vegetables, or might be a fancier of certain kinds of meats, then again it may be some delicacy that you fancy above others. Seldom if ever will you not be able to find your choice at RIALTO CAFETERIA.

The food selected for this Cafeteria is the same as in your private American home. The fact that a greater quantity is used need not make you fear but what you are getting the best at hand.

Food is served by high class ambitious Americans, whose desire is to make your visit to this Cafeteria such that you shall never forget the name. RIALTO CAFETERIA in JOLIET is a real dining service and you can promptly tell your friends. The management is proud of their co-workers and pay them American wages so that they too can live according to American standards.

If you have not yet taken a meal with them drop in for breakfast lunch or dinner. They will be glad to have you and we know you will be glad to have been there.

Cleanliness is carried to such a scrupulous degree at this Cafeteria that you will be astonished. In fact you hardly have time to leave a table until it is cleaned thoroughly for the next patron. The fixtures and equipment are especially designed for Cafeteria service with cleanliness.

The management has left nothing undone to make this establishment the pride of JOLIET. Let us say you will find people here from every walk of life, and the most gorgeous meal can be obtained at a reasonable price.

In this Business Review we wish to refer all the readers of this and former editions to the superb service which is offered. We can probably say that once you eat there, you'll not look elsewhere.

The Peoples store in JOLIET, represents the last word in modern merchandising and brings much trade activity to the city on account of their modern policies.

THE JULIAN GOLDMAN CO. is really a family store. The vast stock of merchandise is systematically arranged under the various departments and people are placed in charge who thoroughly understand the stock and this makes shopping easy for the people as well as facilitating the work of the sales force. To enumerate the many departments in this store would be endless as they have thousands of articles and are continually adding everything that is new and demanded by the people.

With the large financial resources of this organization they are able to name their own terms on large purchases. They know quality and make a continual study of the territories they serve, making their buying highly efficient.

Their large patronage and close buying place them on a basis of quick turnover and this makes prices very reasonable. They are an economic factor in the merchandising life of the territory they serve, enabling the people to have much more for their money and for the people to live better and happier.

It is distinctly a family store as they have clothing here for all members of the family and one does not have to run around from place to place looking for this and that. Clothing and furnishings and specialties for men and women and a thousand and one articles are features of the large stock. Millinery in all the new shapes and shades can be seen here in endless variety.

Millinery in all the new shapes and shades can be seen here in endless variety.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

This JOLIET firm is largely responsible for people in this section always having the best in fresh vegetables and fruits. The stock on hand is kept well filled so any hurry order may be filled with very little delay and inconvenience to the customer.

Well known wholesalers and retailers of fruits and vegetables. This dependable firm is prepared to supply you promptly with everything in its line. Its service is efficient and courteous and has drawn to it an unusually large following of satisfied patrons. It does business on a very large scale and is an important factor in the development of this vicinity.

The JOLIET FRUIT CO. serve not only the home folks, but customers at far distant points in a manner unsurpassed by similar concerns in the more metropolitan center.

The management is a wide awake business man who is doing a large share in making the name of his home city famous through the distribution of fruits and vegetables, supplying as he does, only the best. It forms in the minds of its many customers a definite meaning and sense of location of the city in which it makes its home.

The fundamental aim of the business has been strictly adhered to—that of handling a complete line of fruits and vegetables, and that it has never departed from this aim, while at the same time rendering most efficient service is evidenced by the large number of people who depend upon it for their fruits and vegetables.

The management is in the hands of a competent and able man, thoroughly versed in details of business with the needs and wishes of their patrons. So pleasing in this respect has been the policy of this concern that it has attracted patronage from all parts of the country and from more distant points.

Scrupulous care is used in filling all orders, and none but the very best qualities are permitted to go out. This fact has instilled in its patrons a sense of dependability that is most pleasing and comfortable, indeed. The assurance, of receiving just what is asked for, and of the best, strips buying and ordering of it most unpleasant feature.

In civic movements and community affairs the members of this organization are always on hand to do their share and they are always counted upon to show others the way in every forward-looking enterprise for the common good and welfare. This county may feel justly proud of the JOLIET FRUIT CO., and everyone may well make it a point to speak a word in commendation of its service and progressiveness.

The New Maytag Washer with a one piece cast aluminum tub which is being placed in homes all over this section and is relieving the ladies of much drudgery. They will be glad to demonstrate.

Among the leading features of the New Maytag is the quiet-life-all packed driver, the safety automatic feed board and more noticeable than any other features perhaps is the Roller Water Remover—a soft never crush top roll that leaves the clothes without wrinkles. The New Maytag is finished in durable lacquer and its astonishing quietness in operation and absence of vibration are noticeable mechanical accomplishments.

For a home without electricity the New Maytag is available with built-in gasoline motor. This machine is truly a model in efficiency and does the same work as the electrical drive.

Its simplicity in operation is supreme and it actually washes the clothes without rubbing. It is one washer that cleans the cuffs without extra rubbing. The New Maytag works exceedingly well with the home power plant and for this reason its use on the farm is widespread. Twenty-five inches of floor space is all that's needed for the New Maytag.

Fits snugly in a corner—more compact than you thought a washer could be. Still it washes 50 pounds of dry clothes an hour—just twice as much as ordinary washers. You know what that means to you on washday. New Maytag is the washer that you will find in the home of the wealthiest people in the country and it is the favorite with those in moderate circumstances as well. It knows no caste in clientele because The New Maytag Washers represents quality at moderate price.

There are one hundred and ten different washing machines on the market today and the Maytag company sells 47 per cent of all electric washing machines, being placed in homes today. The Maytag Company recently obtained this information through a patent holding company. At their factories, covering 15 acres of floor space in Newton, Iowa, they manufacture 1800 washers every day.

If you are looking about for a washer that will adequately meet the laundry demands in your home be sure to see the New Maytag washer.

The JOLIET MAYTAG & APPLIANCE COMPANY will gladly demonstrate the washer for you in your own home where you can compare its merits and see it in actual operation.

The stock is composed of shoes for every occasion. Dress shoes, low shoes, high shoes and slippers. The stock is most complete in every particular.

It has long ceased to be a secret among the well dressed ladies of the community that the very latest styles can be had here and in the highest quality.

The stock is composed of the very highest grade of merchandise and by purchasing in large quantities and being a discriminating buyer enables the management to offer these wonderful values to the public. The management of this store does not try to make all of the profit on one sale, but counts on small profits and a large volume of business.

In their endeavor to render the most complete service to their patrons they overlooked not even the smallest detail. Patrons are frequently interrogated as to their preference with regards to colors and shades in leathers as well as styles of lasts and a record is kept of such preference expressed by the customer. This record influences the manufacturer of the next season's shoes and also guides this particular store's selection of shoes for their next order. Service, real metropolitan magnanimous service, that is the policy of this house and it has become a well established fact that every patron be satisfied no matter what may be necessary to do this.

MASTERS SHOE CO. has had a long and practical experience in this field and is considered an able business firm and authority on footwear.

They paid each article as it is placed in the truck minimizing the chances of scratching or marring your goods.

Those who deal with this firm are all satisfied customers. Moving of household goods is scientific business that calls for a high degree of efficiency. Men must not only be strong—they must be trained so that your valuable and delicate pieces of furniture may be protected and not suffer so much as a scratch in the hauling and handling.

You can stop worrying if you call them. Their facilities save you money and there is satisfaction, too. This company's years of satisfactory service in this field have made them well known wherever moving is to be done.

Ready any hour of day for quick transportation of household goods, personal belongings of any nature or any class of merchandise, their motor trucks have become a familiar sight on the streets of this city.

Prompt service and careful hauling are two traits that have been responsible for the large demand for their service.

They have in their employ men thoroughly experienced in the packing of household goods and their satisfactory service is attested by the number of calls which they receive from people of the city for their packers to come and prepare furniture for shipment.

They are a thoroughly responsible concern. You need not carry your own risk for careless handling of your furniture. It will pay you to be certain of such responsibility when giving orders for moving.

Household goods in their care are given the best attention and delivered at their destination any place in the world.

Their entire organization is well trained to render complete service to families moving locally from one house to another, also for overland hauling by trucks, and for packing for railroad shipments.

When you ship by truck household goods do not require crating and invariably arrive at their destination in first-class condition. Such will prove a saving to you and is the most satisfactory means of transportation. JANEKE BROS. is truly responsible and willing to assume responsibility.

Elmhurst Cemetery

WASHINGTON JOLIET PHONE JOLIET 877

ELMHURST CEMETERY offers a spot close to the city where nature lends a pleasant touch to sad occasion, when man in the transition goes to the great beyond. An institution that is well conducted and kept in the very best condition.

With the age of auto funerals and rapid transit the large and well cared for burial estates has taken its place in our civilization.

During the past decade the private burying ground and small unkept cemetery have fallen into desuetude and are gradually passing away. ELMHURST CEMETERY has become a center for the families all over this part of the country. Rural cemeteries in this country have been almost deserted. Many of the prominent families are removing their loved ones from the unkept rural cemeteries to ELMHURST.

This well known place is of good proportions and its founders have provided for the coming generations so that families could secure ample accommodations for many years to come. It is located in a beautiful spot of picturesque country where nature has been extremely kind in her lavish distribution of natural beauty. Aside from this the management has the grounds perfectly landscaped and every accommodation for perpetual care is offered the people.

In the ELMHURST CEMETERY

will be found the burial place of many of the leading families of this section of Illinois.

A stroll through this earthly paradise will remind you of the deeds of the sturdy ancestors that founded our community. This section of this territory can always be proud of the fact that due attention has been given to the memories of the passing years. The present generation is not to be surprised by the men of yesterday and we provide more and more for the future. Families are securing lots as well as providing for perpetual care so that their deeds will be remembered through the coming years.

It is incumbent upon every family to secure a suitable lot. This place with its many excellent memorials, that stand like the Rock of Ages, is typical of present-day civilization.

The management of the company will be pleased to furnish everyone with a lot that is suitable and these are offered at prices that are very reasonable.

The cemetery officials or the Superintendent will gladly furnish any information to prospective purchasers without any charge. Write, phone or call at the office in the cemetery.

In this review we are glad to call the attention of the people to the ELMHURST CEMETERY and compliment the management on its excellent appearance at all times of the year.

SEARS, ROEBUCK AND COMPANY'S retail store in JOLIET needs no introduction to residents of this section. Since its location here, it has been a shopping center for residents of this territory. It has been prominent among the concerns that have aided in the expansion and development of JOLIET and vicinity by giving the public a metropolitan service.

They have a complete department store and you will find anything there that you would expect to find in an up-to-date department store. They rate as one of this state's leading department stores.

They have assisted in raising the standard of living among the people by saving them thousands of dollars yearly on purchases made in their store in JOLIET. The money saved has been invested in pleasure, education and recreation that heretofore has been beyond the reach of many members of this community. We are indeed grateful that this concern has seen fit to locate one of their retail stores within our reach.

Even before their store was established in JOLIET they had many mail order customers in this section who realized what values they offered. And now even a greater saving is effected by the elimination of postage charges and the merchandise is laid before you for inspection before you purchase.

Here there are no high selling costs, no large dealers' profits, no salesmen's commissions. They distribute from the factory and guarantee unconditionally all merchandise sold by them against defects in material and workmanship. Due to their tremendous buying power, special concessions by the manufacturer make it possible for them to put before you values that you cannot afford to overlook.

Rural residents find it particularly convenient to shop here since their stock embraces such a large number of complete lines.

The heads of the SEARS, ROEBUCK AND COMPANY, are business people who realize that large profits are to be made from a rapid turnover. They offer goods at low prices because they buy in immense quantities at the lowest market prices. In some instances they buy entire factory outputs. Their large sales make it possible for them to sell at a small profit.

This store has the reputation for superior merchandise and excellent service that is responsible for its ever growing patronage. The management insists that every purchase be satisfactory and stands ready to replace any articles or refund the money on any purchase that proves unsatisfactory.

It goes without saying that they are honest and straightforward and they have won the patronage of thousands of residents through their merchandising policy.

We are pleased to compliment SEARS, ROEBUCK AND COMPANY in JOLIET and refer them to our readers.

Bath room beauty invites leisure and ample facilities permit it when you have one of these bath rooms—complete, handsome and up-to-date and at a moderate price, too.

Plumbing fixtures, whether they be for bathroom, kitchen or laundry, should be the best because inferior plumbing equipment is expensive.

Everywhere architects and plumbing contractors recommend and specify this company's plumbing fixtures and equipment as what the home owner and builder wants and because their prices are no higher than substitutes and inferior makes.

The STANDARD SANITARY MFG. CO. is in the hands and under the direction of men who are so well known that any further remarks are unnecessary, but we cannot refrain from stating that this establishment is fortunate in having as its active head men so thoroughly familiar with all the details of the plumbing, fixture and supply business, and whose executives familiarity with business conditions has kept their establishment thoroughly abreast of the times. It is such firms as this one that make a city prosperous and worth while.

SHEET METAL AND ROOFING

Offers a most comprehensive service in sheet metal and roofing, having completed the work on some of the finest buildings in this part of the state, either new construction work or repairs.

Superior to the vast majority of sheet metal works and surpassed by none either in general excellence of work or superiority of materials used, this popular concern has continued a most successful career because they and their assistants are among the most efficient roofing and sheet metal men in this part of the state.

They have equipped their place with all the most modern equipment for carrying on a general sheet metal business. Adding to this the fact that they buy the very best of materials and employ men who are thoroughly competent gives their work that superiority for which they are known for many miles.

Sheet metal work is their specialty. Roofs and gutters are within their province. Whether yours is a job calling for new construction or just minor repairs, get their figures before you let the work. Putting them on the job is an assurance that the work will be properly done and the charge reasonable.

One of the features of the service is the roofing work. The proprietors are considered an authority upon roofing work and it will be well worth your while to consult them before deciding what kind of a roof to put on. Or if you have been having trouble with a leaky roof they are men who will solve your problem and save you money.

They are also thoroughly reliable and safe with whom to entrust work in their line no matter how large or small it may be. If you are figuring on any work let them help make up your plans and the many little conveniences that are new and up-to-date will be included while you will find that consultation here will save you money.

They not only do work in town, but are called all over the surrounding territory and have many examples of their workmanship in the surrounding territory.

OTTO J. MARX knows the business from A to Z when they advise you about anything in this line you can depend upon what they say. They are prominent business men and among our most valued citizens.

This is one of the well known concerns not only because they maintain a modern, scientifically equipped plant which is under experienced and expert management but also because the fame their famous high grade "Snow-white" bread has spread far and wide.

Of course everyone knows their excellent service in this connection. When the people who handle important articles of food and the place in which they are handled, as described above, it is safe to wager that what they have to offer their customers is the best that money can buy.

This is the kind of place that is operated by this popular establishment and the kind that they have been operating since they first opened their doors to the people.

So great has been the care in their effort to give the people the most wholesome food that their hosts of customers have learned to refuse goods from any other establishment because they have confidence in their product.

Those who have never tried the products from this bakery are missing one of the accomplishments of the perfect meal as hosts of people are praising the work of this concern and are demanding that their supply houses carry this excellent line of pure bakery products.

The standard of this institution is the best grade flours, pure shortening, sugar, salt, milk and other ingredients, mixed and baked under clean, sanitary conditions by skilled workmen.

As a consequence they find the business of the institution spreading far and wide over this section of the state and in this review of our progress we are glad to give commendable mention to their activities and to predict for the place even greater expansion in the future.

The management has been closely allied with the large business interests of this section of the state for some time and has been instrumental in the upbuilding of this section of the country and they should receive the patronage of the entire people.

This modern and prominent firm of undertakers are among the leaders in their profession in the state. They are equipped with the finest funeral equipment, including the finest ambulance in the state, and provide a service that is unexcelled with a twenty-four hour service.

It is proper in this Business Review that we devote conspicuous space to the well merited tribute to the efficient professional endeavor that has won for this well known firm a prominent place among the leading funeral directors of the country.

There is no other line of business which requires for its successful operation a greater natural aptitude than that of the latter day funeral directors. Through indomitable effort and commendable business methods they have advanced from a small beginning until today they are favored with a clientele that reaches far and wide.

The members are recognized as being among the most proficient and conscientious people in this line in this section and the distinction is well merited as the excellent service rendered in the practice of this profession will testify. It may be only said that no others in this section engaged in the arduous profession of which they are able exponents, having given their profession closer study or is better equipped from every standpoint to carry out all the work attendant upon the calling.

The SPINDLER-KOELLING CO., INC., in CHICAGO HEIGHTS is a great accommodation to those in small apartments and homes.

It is fully in accord with the latest and most metropolitan plan of diplomatic service for it has become the accepted system in the larger cities for people, even in the most palatial homes, to make use of such perfectly appointed funeral chapels as this one.

They have, by professional work of the highest order gained the name for thoroughly reliable funeral directors, which is not confined to the city alone, but extends through this and adjoining counties.

It is highly proper in this Business Review of the onward progress of the city that we give these gentlemen special mention as among our highest esteemed and useful citizens, who in the successful practice of this sombre profession have gained the good will of all who have had business relatives with them.

Highway Steel Products Company

R. R. ROBERTSON, PRES.

"AN OUTSTANDING INDUSTRIAL ASSET TO THE COMMUNITY"

With large and modern factory in CHICAGO HEIGHTS on McKinley Ave., where they are extensive manufacturers of sheet metal supports to hold re-inforcing steel in place and center beam that divides concrete in center and holds all concrete and reinforcing steel and sheet metal supports in position.

This CHICAGO HEIGHTS company turns out a completely finished product, which is sold from coast to coast.

This is a modern twentieth century industry under the able direction of men who have always had at heart the best interests of the community in which their valued enterprise is located and one of the firms that keeps the wheels of progress turning in this section.

This is one of the most flourishing industries and is fully worthy of more than passing notice at our hands for not only is it one of the leading concerns engaged in its especial field of endeavor in the country, but its products have gained a wide reputation for general excellence and are considered a standard product among the trade the country over.

It may be of interest to know that the idea of this enterprise originated in the resourceful minds of energetic business men. With a restless ambition, a broad vision of the future of the industry of the country, they turned their trained and creative minds to the production of perfect products.

Today it is one of the most substantial concerns engaged in this manufacture in the country and its phenomenal growth is the result of hard work on the part of its officers.

Expansion plans gave this company one of the most modern plants in the country. It is one of our busiest bee-hives of industry. It is a model establishment of its kind and is an ideal place to work.

We could write many columns and then not tell you of all the good that this modern industrial concern has done for CHICAGO HEIGHTS. It has become so much a part of the every day life of the people of the community that many have come to regard it as a "matter of course." It is well to pause occasionally and consider what the HIGHWAY STEEL PRODUCTS COMPANY means to us.

To maintain it means the continuous encouragement of all in the community, the assured expansion of CHICAGO HEIGHTS and vicinity and the onward progress of industrial, commercial and social development.

We cannot fail to compliment this progressive concern upon the manner in which it conducts its industry and to say it has been a decided factor in the industrial life of the community.

SEEKING TO DECODE OLDEST OF SECRETS

Experts Study Writing on Ancient Brick.

Paris.—A small gray brick with curious markings is being studied by the leading archeologists of France. The brick is from Ras Shamra, a kingdom that existed 3,400 years ago, and the markings are a hand-written message of its king.

Older than any existing specimen of handwriting out of Egypt, Crete or China, the brick is a puzzle to the men who read hieroglyphics as easily as detective stories. Charles Virolleaud, who has undertaken deciphering of the message, asserts that it is the oldest secret in existence.

The brick was brought to France recently from Syria where the Ras Shamra excavations are in progress. Virolleaud has taken it into his study and figuratively, locked himself in. He said he hoped to have a solution, or at least, a theory by December.

Alphabet of Twenty Six Signs.

Preliminary examinations disclose that the alphabet of the country had 26 signs and were related to the Babylonian in that they were cuneiform. Each word contains three or four signs and the words are separated from each other by a deeply etched vertical line. The writing covers both sides of the brick.

Asked how he would proceed to solve the problem, Virolleaud said:

"I will start with some plausible hypothesis. I will assume, let us say, that the brick contains a message either written by the king of Ras Shamra, or written to him by the monarch of a neighboring realm. Deciphered, the brick may reveal the existence of a civilization the world has never heard of before."

Luck May Help.

"Further specimens of this writing which will undoubtedly be unearthed as the excavations continue, will light on the task which for the moment is extremely difficult and a total mystery. The presence of one Greek word, a hieroglyph, a Phoenician word and the task would be simple."

"The belief that the brick is a royal document is confirmed somewhat by the presence of a proper name at the top of the inscription. The name is Aka-Hinnu. The title has disappeared the tablet being broken at this point. The document, if it can be so called, is made more interesting by the fact that it is not written in Babylonian, which was the diplomatic language of that era."

"Luck, that god of archeologists and newspaper men, often operates in our favor. Among the inscriptions discovered in Syria and now on the way to Paris there is a Babylonian text which may help us find out who Aka-Hinnu was."

Baby Reaches Physical Maturity at 22 Months

Belgrade.—Mazdan, an isolated hamlet in the Milanowaz district, discovered a twenty-two months' old girl with full physical maturity. The baby, the child of a peasant family, showed early signs of abnormal body development and months ago possessed breast and other traits of a full grown woman. Superstitious neighbors threatened to kill the child, which they believe is a sure sign that the devil is glancing towards the vicinity of Belgrade. Physicians, however, came to the rescue. They plan to remove the child to a Belgrade clinic for study.

Eagle Clubbed to Death in Attack on Children

Moosejaw, Sask.—A giant golden eagle lies battered to death here after making swooping attacks on school children and standing its ground against the club-swinging onslaughts of adults.

The eagle stood its ground and faced the attackers, beating wings that measured more than seven feet from tip to tip. Under the heavy stroke of a club, the bird fell dead.

Seeks to Breed Musk Oxen in Spitzbergen

Oslo.—An attempt to breed musk oxen in Spitzbergen has been launched by a Norwegian hunter who recently returned from Greenland with 23 musk ox bulls and cows, which will be used for breeding purposes to start a herd. No wild animals that will be of danger to the musk oxen exist in Spitzbergen and the conditions for breeding are favorable.

20 Drownings a Day in French Bathing Season

Paris.—Government statistics, compiled at the end of the bathing season, show the surprising total of 20 drownings daily, most of them children who venture beyond their depth. There is a growing agitation for more stringent regulations regarding life guards.

DR. A. J. CLARK has well equipped offices in CHICAGO HEIGHTS and is a most prominent Osteopathic physician in this section of the state.

The science of osteopathy is an advanced scientific method for the prevention and cure of disease.

The human body has been endowed by nature with all the remedial agents, such as the blood and nerve force, that are necessary for the preservation of health, and recovery from disease providing the mechanism which distributes these agents is in perfect mechanical adjustment. Any obstruction to a normal flow of blood causes disease. Remove such obstruction, health naturally follows.

Osteopathy searches for and locates the structural abnormality and by mechanical readjustments restores harmonious activity to the mechanism. This leaves the curative powers free to act, which are sufficient to restore and rebuilt health. Osteo-pathy, strictly speaking, is anatomical corrective work, yet it employs such other agencies as dieting, nursing, sanitation, etc. It also recognizes that surgical interference is at times necessary and in well selected cases is employed.

This is indeed an age of specialists in the profession. He has an adequate training to practice this profession most successfully. He readily adopts all the advancing methods, as rapidly as they are authentically approved by the eminent men of the profession and then places this scientific knowledge at the service of suffering humanity.

We take great pleasure in this review in referring all the readers to DR. A. J. CLARK in CHICAGO HEIGHTS as one of the most representative professional men of this section and particularly call your attention to his trustworthy and untiring efforts which have placed his service in demand.

This progressive ladies and misses shoe store in JOLIET—is a popular shoe store with an enviable reputation for exclusive vogue. Save your feet by wearing the nationally known Enna Jettick shoes. Save your feet by wearing quality footwear, it pays in the long run.

The reason so many people suffer with sore feet is because they do not wear the right kind of shoes. The difference is in having a man fit your feet who knows just exactly what you need. If you will let GOODMAN'S ENNA JETTICK SHOE STORE furnish your footwear you will always be correctly, stylish and at the same time comfortably shod. This is one of the well known, exclusive shoe stores of the community and they know this business from A to Z.

The excellent qualities sold by this store at low notch prices is the talk of the people. As a consequence hundreds of women and misses have made this store their headquarters for years. The stock contains dress shoes, business shoes, school shoes for the Junior girl. All styles and leathers are found here—the oxford, the colonial, the pump—if it's footwear they have it from 1 to 12 and AAAAAA to EEE and in Junior sizes 2½ to 9 and AAA to D.

Style has not been overlooked by this progressive firm and by that we mean that they have always enjoyed the reputation of being first with each representative style of shoes that has become popular with the ladies of our community. Just a little in advance of others they display each season the styles and leathers that are to be popular and thus many have learned to look to them to learn what's what in correct shoes for any occasion.

The care and proper fitting of the feet is a matter which should be given expert attention and at this store they have made a life study of this profession and are considered an expert and an authority.

We are glad to compliment GOODMAN'S ENNA JETTICK SHOE STORE in JOLIET upon the position this store occupies in the business world and for making it possible for the women of our territory to purchase Enna Jettick shoes.

"THE COMMUNITY BANK SINCE 1906"

Built on the solid rock of a sound financial policy, the COMMERCIAL BANK OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS has stood as a "financial pillar" of this community. The policy of this bank has been shaped and directed by men in whom the people have always placed confidence.

From the organization of this bank it has always been spoken of as a "Bank of the People." This reputation is well merited. This bank has been strong and has never catered merely to capitalist or manufacturing interests. These accounts have been handled, to be sure, but it has at the same time been a Banking Institution for the Farmer, Workingman and the Small Merchant Who is Just Beginning.

The management of this banking Institution is in a large measure responsible for the fact that this Bank has been ready and willing to help any business, large or small, which by any justification merited help. The Directors and Employees of this Bank are courteous and obliging; they are anxious, and are there for the purpose of trying to help solve the personal problems of any and all of the patrons of this institution.

This readiness to accommodate the people of this community has increased the power and prestige of this bank among the financial institutions of this section of the State and Country.

COMMERCIAL BANK OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS has all the facilities for banking found in a metropolitan bank. The most considerate service is given on all Checking Accounts. The officials who have charge of the granting of loans are considerate of the financial needs of any patron who may come for advice and aid.

A special feature of this Banking Institution is the Safety Deposit Box Department. This provides for the customers of the bank a place for the Safe Keeping of their Valuable Papers, Jewels and other articles which they do not wish to keep in their own homes.

We are pleased in this Edition to bring before our readers the COMMERCIAL BANK OF CHICAGO HEIGHTS as among our strong financial institutions and their Directors and Officials are men that are boosters for our community and are always back of every progressive project.

In CHICAGO HEIGHTS is a factory branch of the HOLLAND FURNACE CO., of HOLLAND, MICHIGAN, the largest and most extensive manufacturers of furnaces in the world. This is the one furnace whose popularity is nationwide and is sold at a price no higher than those of inferior makes.

The Holland Vaporaire Furnace is an aristocrat among furnaces and is strictly in a class by itself. It provides the most approved means of supplying an even temperature throughout every room in the house at the minimum cost.

Please remember that the installation of each and every furnace is a subject of more importance to the company than the furnace itself. Every Holland furnace manufactured must be installed by Holland expert installers. These engineers are skilled in the art of fitting the furnace to your home.

It is a standing rule of the company that every Holland patron must be pleased. The Holland bond—the pledge of the world's largest furnace company—is your protection.

Install a Holland heating system your home will have all that is possible to possess in healthful, clean, economical and convenient heating.

The HOLLAND FURNACE COMPANY maintains over 500 factory branches managed by heating experts, trained and employed on full time. Their furnaces are never sold by dealers.

In these days when time and thought are being extended to devise additional comfort and happiness, just think of the Holland Furnace as a spirit of genial warmth that carries content and good cheer into the home during the chill winter.

Installation of this popular furnace means a well earned and permanent rest for the housewife from the former drudgery accompanying the use of old style heating methods.

Holland furnaces make warm friends. Considering its combined features of economy and convenience you cannot longer afford to be without one. You will only live once—Why not, with your family, enjoy the utmost in home comforts while here.

This factory branch is in a convenient location. Call and take the matter up with them, they will be pleased to furnish facts and figures that will interest you.

FIRST CLASS AUTO REPAIRING

TOWING & ACCESSORIES—AUTHORIZED BENDIX BRAKE SERVICE STATION—DRIVE IN TODAY FOR A MOTOR-EX-RAY TEST—GET THE FACTS ABOUT YOUR CAR—AXELS STRAIGHTENED ON YOUR CAR BY THE NEW COLD METHOD

Features a complete repair department for auto owners. Offering twenty-four hour service under the direction of a manager who is one of the best mechanics in this section of the state.

No matter what the make or reputation of the new car may be, the years of service obtainable by the owner will depend upon the class of service it receives at the hands of the automobile mechanics. Sooner or later every car will need repairs. The careful autoist will not even wait until his car suffers a breakdown. He will have it given a thorough inspection or overhauling at regular intervals.

What a satisfaction it is to know the car is in good hands, and that when delivered it will do all that the auto mechanic claims for it! It is just this guarantee of good workmanship that has been responsible for the name enjoyed for several years by one of the busiest automobile repair and service shops.

This progressive firm does all kinds of automobile repair and overhauling work. A big feature of their service is the twenty-four hour wrecker service. Large and modern wreckers are kept busy night and day and give immediate and efficient service no matter if it is to bring in a "stalled" car or pull out the most difficult wreck.

Every car must at some time undergo repairs. It is at this time that the auto mechanic establishes his reputation for service of merit. The shop force at this establishment is prepared to furnish any of the lines of general automobile repair work from general overhauling to specialized lines of work.

Service is not an idle boast. It is the result of years of good workmanship done by men of recognized skill. Experienced automobile mechanics are employed at this garage to assure the best in riding comfort and ease of control. It is a favorite stopping place for autoists desiring immediate car attention, in addition to its large list of regular patrons who know that this service stands for the best obtainable.

You can drive your car in this garage and they can take care of it in every detail. Fenders, bodies and frames are straightened for any bends or dents, one class of service that comprises every phase of automobile service successfully accomplished by skillful workmen. No problem is too difficult for their staff. Try them for road service.

In FRANKFORT is a prominent oil and gasoline concern of this section, which is one of the essential factors in the business organization of the community, furnishing oils and gasoline and greases. Distributors for the very best products.

In this day of automobiles and progressive improvements in all kinds of machinery, it is very important that every city and town have oil and gasoline supply firms. This firm enjoys a tremendous business and renders a very complete and efficient service to farmers and individuals with greases, oils and gasoline through their truck service.

Of course, the chief feature of the service that this company furnishes to the public is to supply high grade gasoline, motor oils and greases. These are of the very finest quality and have proven their efficiency by actual test. But a special feature that is maintained by this firm is magnanimous service to the customers. Genial, courteous and accommodating gentlemen themselves, they insist that all of the employees under their supervision maintain their standard of service and as a result it is a very pleasant task to do business with this firm. The management thoroughly understands the business, can give you information as regards what oils and greases are best suited to your needs and are always willing and anxious to do this.

The ELSNER OIL COMPANY is favored by hundreds of motorists in this section and is under a management who knows the oil business thoroughly.

When you patronize this popular oil concern you not only receive superior gasoline, motor oils and greases, but a service that includes authoritative information service.

In this business review number we think that it is very appropriate that we direct your attention to the ELSNER OIL COMPANY and its admirable stations and to be the very efficient management, high grade of its products and the very satisfactory service it renders. While it is serving a large portion of this section of the state, the credit for its growth and business is due to the management who is well known and well liked. It should be a matter of civic pride with the people of this section to see that they get oils and gasoline from this concern, which deserves the loyal patronage and support of all interested in the progress of their community.

There is no one firm in this section of the country more widely known as extensive dealers in grain and feeds than this well known concern, which is under competent direction.

Through their straightforward and above-board policies this firm has established an enviable reputation in these parts and the farmers and the people generally have come to look upon this firm as one of the prominent concerns of this section. Through their extensive dealings in grains they have afforded a most advantageous market right at their door. They bring thousands of dollars into this section each year that would otherwise go to some other center were their policies and service not so entirely satisfactory in every particular.

They deal on a large scale in grains, feeds and reliable brands of fertilizer. They deliver coal and lumber in the surrounding territory. For many miles around the farmers have learned of their custom hammermill grinding. Just recently installed a Blue Streak, one of the largest hammermills, to accommodate the trade in this part of the state. The farmers seek no further market because they find it both profitable and convenient to market their grains here as everything is loaded and unloaded automatically.

Each of the heads of this firm is a leading business man who has by his honest methods brought this establishment into the leading position that it occupies today in the commercial and agricultural life of this section of the state. They have always been a bosser for the home territory and in this business review we wish to compliment them upon the admirable manner in which they and their associates are serving the public.

SHEET METAL & ROOFING CONTRACTORS
27 YEARS OF SUCCESS AND STILL MAKING FRIENDS

This old established and reliable CHICAGO HEIGHTS firm features all kinds of roofing and sheet metal work. They are master roofers and have had the contract on many fine buildings as well as homes which stand as examples of their workmanship.

This is one of the busiest concerns in the community and their work has been highly commented upon by all whom they have served.

They employ a staff of expert workmen who thoroughly understand the laying of the roofs to the best advantage. These men will do your job and astonish you at the results that can be produced. Their work will be found thorough and tasteful and the entire service quick and satisfactory.

They are thoroughly equipped for both old or new work and the quality of the roofing material is of the latest and best known to the craft and has satisfactorily withstood the test of time. Among the qualifications of their brands of roofing are the facts that it is fire-proof, leak-proof, lasts longer than shingle roofs and presents an appearance from an architectural standpoint that is very pleasing to the most critical.

They have completed many large contracts in this part of the state and their work has been found satisfactory by the patrons in every case.

The roofs which they have placed are mute testimonials as to the proficiency of this firm and are to be seen throughout this part of the state in every direction.

Their roofing is as near permanent as roofing can be made and their prices have always been of the most moderate order. It therefore behooves you to confer with this firm as to what roofing is best adopted to your needs and at the same time get their prices on both work and material.

They are considered authority on this work and will be pleased at any time to assist you in selecting material and give you estimates on your work. They personally see that all work is executed during the time promised and according to the letter of the contract.

A convenient feature of this business is the repair department where by you can have repairs made on your roof. In this business review of the commercial activities of this section we are pleased to compliment JOHN MAIER & CO. in CHICAGO HEIGHTS upon the economical position their efficient service merits.

Glass for furniture, glass with polished edges and auto glass have a large patronage from all surrounding territory.

The PALMER PLATE & WINDOW GLASS CO. has become a center in the glass trade as is evident from the truly large trade they are receiving and the way their reputation is spreading far and wide over this part of the state.

They have a most commodious factory and offer a most complete service in plate and automobile glass. Their stock comes from the leading manufacturers of the country and consists of mirror glass, windshield glass and auto glass. They buy their stock direct from manufacturers in all the standard sizes and in large quantities and this enables them to sell at prices more reasonable than at the ordinary store that carries glass as a sideline.

They have all the equipment for the cutting of glass to any size and in charge of this department are expert mechanics who understand the sizes and kinds of glass. They will be glad to estimate any glass work that you need. Just drive up to their place with your car if a window is broken and they will take the measure and have the glass in a jiffy.

They are fully equipped to install the Libby-Owen-Ford non-Shatterable glass for automobiles—Such glass is extremely important in event of a collision—since in a large proportion of auto accidents people are cut and seriously and permanently injured and scarred by flying glass.

You do not pay for any breakage here as there is none. The men who handle this part of the work are cutters of ability and that experience that comes from the long handling of glass products enables them to cut without damaging the glass they are giving you.

They feature beveling, grinding, polishing of all kinds of glass, including automobile and window glass. Beveled plates for front and French doors made to order, plate glass for desk and furniture tops, show cases, store fixtures and in fact everything in the glass line.

This company has machinery to do all kinds of glass work that is not even found in the large majority of glass shops in Chicago. You do not need to go to other places to get your special work done as the PALMER PLATE & WINDOW GLASS CO. has every facility—Try them!

In making this review of our progress we are glad to compliment PALMER PLATE & WINDOW GLASS CO. on the completeness of their service and the large trade they are securing because of their reasonable prices.

A foremost automobile establishment in FRANKFORT offer a complete line of the world's finest automobiles. The New Chevrolet Six affords even greater quality than ever before. The public has recognized that Chevrolet represents a high standard of quality at low cost. As a result the New Chevrolet Six has become the world's fastest selling Six. The New Chevrolet Six models embody quality features such as you would expect to find on cars of much higher price.

Marvelous Fisher Bodies! A wheel base of 107 inches. Four-wheel brakes! Performance that is a revelation to owners of even higher priced cars!

And prices that demonstrate again, Chevrolet's ability to provide the utmost in modern motoring luxury at the lowest possible cost!

The engine of this great new car is of improved valve-in-head design. With alloy "invar-strut" pistons specially designed hydro-laminated camshaft gears, mushroom type valve tappets and a complete new steel motor enclosure—it provides a type of motor operation so amazing that it must be experienced to be appreciated.

Coupled with this thrilling acceleration and speed is a type of riding and driving comfort almost unbelievable in a low-priced car. The New Chevrolet Six chassis, swung low to the road and with four semi elliptic shock absorber springs—the Bigger and Better Chevrolet holds the road with a surety that is truly remarkable and rides in perfect comfort at high speeds over the roughest stretches of highway.

And never before was a low-priced car so easy to drive—for the worm and gear steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout even at the front axle knuckles.

All these spectacular new mechanical advancements are, of course, in addition to the host of notable features that Chevrolet has previously pioneered in the low-priced field.

In addition to the Chevrolet line of cars HEUSNER & MAGER are dealers in this community for the Willys line of cars ranging in price from $495 to $1195. A big, new six, priced like a four; a powerful new Eight; and a brilliant new Knight

—These are the finest of the 2,425,000 cars built by Willys-Overland in 24 years—They have more than a hundred new points of superiority. The new 58½ inch tread is the widest of all low-priced cars. Plenty of room for three full sized men on the wider rear seat. Plenty of room for six-footers to stretch out their legs. The front seat adjustable, and the back of the seat may be inclined at the angle that suits you best. At center of steering wheel, is the famous Finger-Tip Control—one button operates starter, lights and horn. Extra safety, and less pedal pressure, with new duo-servo internal expanding four-wheel brakes. Four hydraulic shock eliminators and longer, more flexible springs. Speed range of 70 to 80 miles an hour; second gear speed as high as 50. And you enjoy impressive savings on all these new Willys cars.

We urge all readers that a visit to the HEUSNER-MAGER in FRANKFORT will prove both interesting and profitable.

A modern equipped funeral home in CHICAGO HEIGHTS, offers the finest motor equipment. Truly a most metropolitan service rendered by men who are most eminent in their profession.

It is eminently fitting in this review that we denote conspicuous space to the well merited tribute to the efficiency and conscientious work that has won for these well known professional men a prominent place among the modern funeral directors.

There is no vocation requiring for its successful prosecution a greater natural aptitude than that of the modern funeral director and this particularly applies to these well known representatives of this valued profession. Through untiring efforts and commendable methods they have progressed from a modest beginning until today they possess a clientele that extends over many miles of territory.

As is well known they are recognized as among the most proficient and conscientious in this line in this section and this distinction is well merited, as the excellent service which they render in the practice of the profession will testify. It may be truly said that no one in this section engaged in the arduous profession of which they are able exponents has given their profession closer study or is better equipped from every standpoint to carry out all of the work attendant upon the calling.

They possess an unusually modern equipment, including the finest of motor-drawn funeral vehicles.

WEST END FUNERAL HOME gained the name as reliable funeral directors which is not confined to the city but extends throughout this and adjoining territory. It is eminently proper in this review of the community today that we give them special mention as among our highly esteemed and useful citizens, who, in the successful practice of this useful profession have gained the good will of all who have dealings with them.

When it is necessary to be under the care of a doctor with attending nurses think of the ST. JAMES HOSPITAL in CHICAGO HEIGHTS.

You are assured of the best possible care and attention here. Everything is kept scrupulously clean and sanitary at all times, and there is an air of cheerfulness about it that is always an aid to speedy convalescence.

The building, itself, is so constructed, as to secure perfect, free circulation of air and the maximum amount of sunshine. This is true of either the wards or the private rooms. They are all well lighted and cheerful. It is an institution of which the people of this community may be justly proud.

For invalids of all diseases, for obstetrics, for accidents, go to the ST. JAMES HOSPITAL. Telephone Chicago Heights 3200 is the first thought in case of accidents.

More people are realizing every year the intrinsic value of the local hospital. The confusion in the home incident to sickness there and its effect upon the patient are marked and they know that they are not only better off in the hospital, but that the family at home are relieved and can go about their business in a sane frame of mind, because of the efficient and satisfactory care their loved ones are receiving in the ST. JAMES HOSPITAL.

Those in charge here have had long and scientific training in hospital work and do not tolerate any incompetency on the part of any one employed in the institution.

This hospital has a most complete emergency room to handle all cases of emergency sickness and accidents. This fact should be well remembered as the use of the emergency facilities in this room may mean the difference between life and death.

It is with much pleasure that we give the ST. JAMES HOSPITAL honorable mention in this Business Review and recommend it to you for all cases of sickness or accident.

Have one of the most modernly equipped plants in this part of the country, under the direction of an authority on this class of work, have a large patronage over this section; an institution that has turned out work for many Mokena News-Bulletin readers.

This part of the state has produced no firm that has been more beneficial to its continued progress and development than this well known millwork plant.

It has been very busy in the relief of the housing shortage and thus has been a beneficial factor in the life of the community.

FRED A. KLEPPER has one of the most modern equipped mill work plants. The scope of his operation is of a character that he is able to make most anything to specifications that could be desired in the millwork line.

The mill work plant is in charge of an authority on interior work. In forms of mill work the greatest accuracy is practiced and they are able to get up anything you desire or will furnish you with both ideas and goods.

Their work has gone into some of the largest buildings in this section.

Service is a feature of their plant. When you order, whether in person or by phone you will find that you will get exactly what you order in good time and you will not be bothered by having to send it back or be inconvenienced in any way.

The establishment which is operated by this firm is one of the foremost institutions in the community where made-up and special order mill work in all of its lines is carried on with great activity. They are prepared to answer the demands of the public for whatever is called for. They manufacture a full line of mill work which they sell in such quantities that they are able to sell very reasonable. Their stock is of good quality, priced right.

We desire to compliment FRED A. KLEPPER upon the position his establishment occupies in the business world and to refer it to all of our readers when desiring to transact business with efficiency, courtesy and service.

FARM IMPLEMENTS—DODGE SALES & SERVICE

This FRANKFORT firm, specialize in general garage work, and are dealers in this community for Dodge cars, Oliver farm equipment, Hart power tractors, Oliver plows, Nichols & Shepard, combines and corn pickers.

This well known and reliable firm has well catered to the farmer's needs in this section and specializes in the better makes of improved farm machinery. They supply a large territory and have come to be known in this and adjacent counties as the foremost in their line and by reason of their satisfactory service are rapidly expanding and justly merit their rapidly increasing patronage.

Being amply financed they are enabled to buy in large amounts, thus demanding quantity discounts which is quite a saving and is passed along to the patrons. In their essential work of supplying equipment for the most expeditious production of foods they are of a two-fold benefit to the community. By reason of this adequate stock of dependable farm tools the farmers for miles around are attracted to this trading point and the money goes into circulation through the local medium. Secondly, the farmer, knowing a base of supplies is near at hand, will do a more intensive line of farming, which will increase the products marketed here.

Their large and varied stock is composed of implements and machinery nationally known as the output of the world's foremost and leading manufacturers in this line. As soon as an implement is perfected and put on the market, if it works to the farmers' advantage, it will be exhibited in the warehouses of these efficient dealers.

The members are thoroughly posted on farm machinery and its various uses and are never too busy to demonstrate or explain in detail any new piece of machinery.

Through their practical experience they are in a position to offer advice on agricultural subjects which can be fully depended upon as their reputation for veracity has never been questioned.

The modern farmer strives for the maximum results from his labor and acreage and to do this he must keep thoroughly up-to-date in the improvement in farm machinery. For this reason the farmers of this section unite in a vote of appreciation of the magnanimous service of this aggressive implement establishment. In this Business Review of our progress we wish to commend this firm for their honorable business methods and uniform accommodation.

IF IT'S MADE FROM WOOD THEY MAKE IT

This prominent concern is known throughout this section as leaders in the manufacture of sash, doors, mill work and allied lines.

In their years of experience this firm has attained fame through their progressive business methods and superiority of their products. They are recognized throughout the country and add to the progress and prosperity of this section.

They make a specialty of mill work of all kinds and can supply you with sash, doors, special mill work and work of all kinds.

In the olden days when we started to build a home, the first requisite was to find a carpenter who could be trusted to build properly the doors, sash, staircase and build all the finish into the home. Not so today with this modern mill at your disposal. It is time that you should find a real carpenter but by having the mill work ready made much time can be saved on interior finish.

In the mill work from this concern you are guaranteed honesty of design, material and workmanship. Once a customer always a customer or better still, they have built up their business on the high quality of merchandise they furnish.

Prices on lumber and building material have now dropped to a place where it is quite a lot cheaper to build than to rent. A novel feature in ordering from this concern you can see them manufacture daily many pieces of wood work you wish for your home. Here also you can pick your design out of their stock and know exactly what you are getting.

THE JOHN STUA MILL & CABINET CO. know the needs of the people in woodwork and provides for every modern improvement to better the manufacture of their line. This progressive CHICAGO HEIGHTS establishment pays the top of the market for poultry, eggs, live stock, particularly calves and lambs. We gladly advise our readers to get in touch with them and take advantage of their service.

This is one of the institutions that has materially aided in the development of this section of the state and has especially been instrumental in aiding the progress of diversified farming in this community. They furnish the farmer with a most advantageous market for poultry, eggs and livestock and therefore operate an institution that is of great commercial value to the public. Their prices are far more favorable than would be secured by the people if they had to ship elsewhere for it is a well known fact that this popular establishment pays the top of the market at all times.

One of the recognized principles of farming along scientific lines today is the raising of poultry and livestock. It is because of the excellent service and the desirable market afforded by this well known company that this feature is receiving more attention from the farmers today and progress along this line is particularly noticeable in this community where the producer knows that he will receive the highest prices for his produce.

Another feature of the very satisfactory service of the popular house is the courtesy and accommodation which marks their dealings with the producer. The establishment is under the direction of a conscientious and competent man and who has associated with him only such assistants as he can depend upon to render the most courteous and reliable service. They are always ready and willing to give you the latest quotations and those wishing to market their produce to the best advantage will do well to get in touch with this well known house.

Fibbing About Our Gas Mileage

By M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHEN you get married you take your partner for better or for worse. In acquiring an automobile you take no such vows publicly, but the two situations are not altogether dissimilar. You cannot keep from becoming very much identified with your car and to fly to its defense, quite unconsciously, in case of attack on its virtues and vices.

It takes some occurrence, some rude shock such as enormous repair bills, and such other heart-rending incidents as being towed in through crowded streets where your friends are likely to witness your humiliation that you get to the point of contemplating divorce.

The Mud Turpin

By Hugh Hutton.

(Author of Nutty Natural History)

THE mud turpin (accent on the third syllable) or cockeyed turpin is often found basking in the sun in the vicinity of Hollywood. It lives exclusively on custard pies, and when alarmed will pop out of sight in among the slap sticks. A few have been captured, and it was found that their shells when boiled down

Ordinarily, however, every man is loyal to his own car. Our affection for the old bus increases as its market value decreases. Its weather-beaten features serve to endear the old faithful servant who has grown old and feeble for our sake. There are bound to spring up emotional attachments and sentiments after going through exciting experiences together.

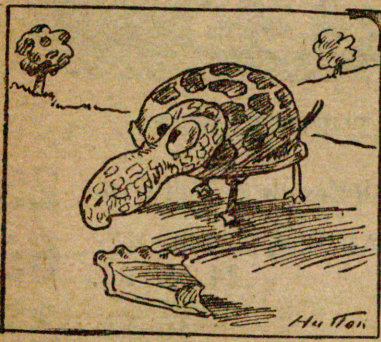

We sometimes grow sentimental over the family car and refuse to trade it off and turn it out to pasture as a worn-out horse. The attitude is one of true comradeship. We hate to have any dealer look it over with a view of placing a price on its head. It hurts not only our pride but also outrages our sense of loyalty.

We fib about the gasoline mileage as we do about anything else connected with the car out of a sense of loyalty and on the ground of common decency.

We fib about our gasoline mileage because it is expected of us. We also fib because we want to make a good impression, to show off our skill in buying a good car in the first place and in keeping it in good repair and in getting the most out of it. The chief reason briefly stated is that in complimenting the car we compliment ourselves.

We fib about our gasoline mileage for the same reasons that a mother always sides with her boy.

No Woman Wants to Dominate

By JEAN NEWTON

"HOW she dominates. The way she runs everything, disregarding her husband! I don't see how that man stands it! Don't you hate dominating women?"

I wasn't asked the question. I merely overheard it. But I'm going to answer it.

I hate the spectacle of a woman dominating, a woman who "runs everything, disregarding her husband." But I don't hate the woman. I pity her.

For I know that every dominating wife is a disappointed woman.

With full allowance for such matters as ability, disposition, inclination, I am nevertheless convinced that dominating people are not born, but made. If you will investigate the life of any dominating person, man or woman, you are almost certain to find that they had responsibility thrust upon them so early in life that it became natural for them to shoulder burdens and handle situations. They were forced to dominate.

No woman naturally wants to dominate over her husband. No matter what the part she may have had to play before, every normal woman when she marries wants to be dominated. In fact the more spirited a woman is the more certain is she to seek a mate whom she can look up to, the less likely to be attracted by a man whom she might expect to dominate over.

A girl of my acquaintance who since the age of sixteen has had the responsibility of caring for a widowed invalid mother and the upbringing of two younger children, remarked to me that because of her years of responsibility her idea of heaven was a place where some one would dominate her. "When I am free to marry," she said,

"I shall be the most clinging of clinging vines. Bring me a masterful man."

That is merely a case in point of the principle that even the woman who has had to dominate others, does not naturally wish to dominate her husband. Whatever the spirit of the age may have done to us, however the circumstances of our lives may have molded us, there is but one instinct that has bridged centuries and perhaps eons to show up anachronism though it may be, in the most modern of normal women.

Therefore when I see a woman dominating over her husband, bringing up her family on her own, taking important steps alone, making decisions which affect their common welfare without consulting him, I hate the spectacle, but I pity the woman. For in the echo of those acts I hear reverberations of a cruel necessity. Behind the unnatural role she is playing I see the shadow of a husband either too weak to take his rightful part in their partnership, or, more often, too lazy. Most often I see the type of man who fulfills his responsibility with the remark, "Why should I bother about that when you can do it so well?" or facetiously, "Why should I do the worrying when you worry so much better?"

"She calls her sweetie Paul Revere," says Catty Katrinka, "because he's always calling her to arms." (Copyright.)

It is those men who make dominating wives. (© by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE GARDEN FOLK HAVE PICTURES TAKEN

(A Story for Your Crayons.)

The carrots, the lettuce, the beans and the peas,
At home in the garden so gay,
Were talking together, when K. Carrot said,

"I've a plan for this beautiful day.

"Now haven't you noticed, Miss Lettuce and I

Look stunning together—and you, Dear Mrs. Tomato, with color so high,

Are looking your very best, too.

"We should all have our photographs taken, I think,

While we're at our most beautiful best."

Said young Bessie Bean, with the air of a queen,

"I'll be sure to be stylishly dressed.

"Till wear my green frock and my slippers of jade,

And my hat shall be dainty and trim,

I'm glad I'm not fat, if I do say it myself,

It's the fashion, they say, to be slim."

Mr. Radish and Roddy, his fat little boy,

Thought the plan would be certainly fun,

"Twill be a fine picture, for where could you find

A handsomer father and son?"

Find the following: Ruth's sister, her doll, a squirrel and the aviator.

Then Peter Potato, his solemn eyes blinked,

And said, "I approve of this plan,

'Tis my duty, I see, to take charge of this thing,

So I'll send for the camera man."

Then Mrs. Green Peapod in flutter of fear

(She always was nervous and shy),

Posed this way and that and retitled her hat,

And arranged a curl over one eye.

The flighty green onions were trembling with dread,

And as usual were given to tears,

"Till Mamma Tomato said, "Come, here's the man."

Now try to look pleasant, my dears."

So they all sat and looked at the little black hole,

When the camera man said, "Look! If the picture is good we will send it away,

And sure enough, here on the page they stand,

Do you think they were pleased with the sight?

They cried out in anger, they trembled with rage,

Such treatment they said was not right.

"Where are our dresses of scarlet and green,

And where are our colors so gay?"

And Peter Potato looked solemn and stern,

And said he would write right away.

No decent potato would wear black and white!

Such carrots had never been seen!

And Mrs. Tomato just looked like a fright,

And who ever heard of a bean

So pale and anemic?—The radishes, too,

Should be just as red as a rose.

"Oh, Editor Dear, ask the children, we pray,

To give us our beautiful clothes."

So children get busy, your friends are distressed,

And paint them as bright as you can,

Perhaps once again, in their bright colors dressed,

They'll forgive the poor camera man.

Things the Family Will Like

By NELLIE MAXWELL

"There is no noble height thou canst not climb;
All triumphs may be thine in time's futurity
If, whatsoever thy fault thou dost not faint or halt
But lean upon the staff of God's security."

EVERYBODY knows how to make peanut brittle—but if that is too much trouble, buy some, and prepare the following dish; the children will like it as well as their daddy does:

Scalloped Apples With Peanut Brittle. Take six large, tart apples, peel and slice. Spread the apples in a thin layer over the bottom of a baking dish, sprinkle with salt, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, add a layer of peanut brittle and repeat. Put the candy on top of the last layer. Bake in a slow oven for one hour.

Spanish Delight. Cut two lettuce hearts into quarters, peel and cut into quarters two ripe tomatoes, cut one cucumber into dice, one sweet pepper shredded, two hard-cooked eggs sliced, and season with salt and pepper to taste. Arrange on the lettuce and serve with a snappy French dressing.

Challenge Lemon Pie. Beat the yolks of three eggs until light. To this add the juice of one lemon and the grated rind of two, three tablespoonfuls of hot water, one-half cupful of sugar and salt to taste. Cook in a double boiler until thick, then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Fill a baked shell with the mixture and place in the oven to brown.

Orange Cocktail a la Canada. Place thinly sliced orange well chilled in sherbet cup; over each pour two tablespoonfuls of maple sirup. Strained honey may be used for variety if desired.

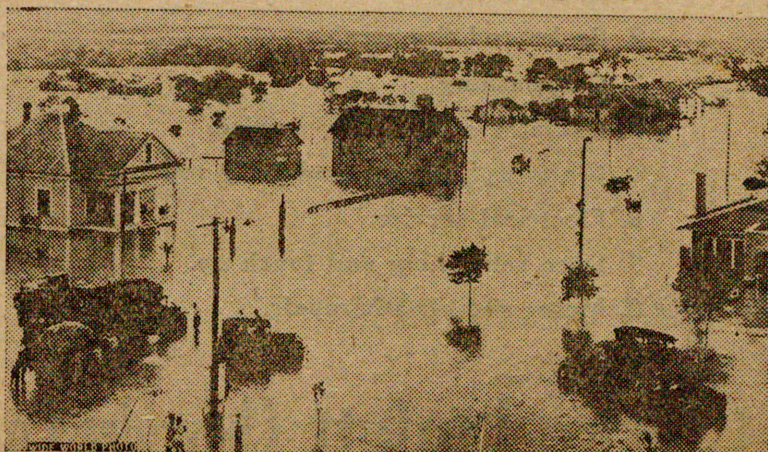

Honey is especially wholesome as a sweet for children and should be used freely in their diet.

Rhubarb Punch. Take one quart each of rhubarb and water. Cut the rhubarb into small pieces and cook in the water until soft. Strain through a double cheese cloth, add one-third of a cupful of orange juice, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar sirup, pinch of salt and a pint of sparkling water. Mix well and when ready to serve add ice and the sparkling water. Serve very cold.

OLD DOCTOR'S IDEA IS BIG HELP TO ELDERLY PEOPLE

In 1885, old Dr. Caldwell made a discovery for which elderly people the world over praise him today!

Years of practice convinced him that many people were endangering their health by a careless choice of laxatives. So he began a search for a harmless prescription which would be thoroughly effective, yet would neither gripe nor form any habit. At last he found it.

Over and over he wrote it, when he found people bilious, headachy, out of sorts, weak or feverish; with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy. It relieved the most obstinate cases, and yet was gentle with women, children and elderly people.

Today the same famous, effective prescription, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is the world's most popular laxative. It may be obtained from any drugstore.

RINGWORM ECZEMA IS ECONOMIC DANGER

Illinois Doctor in Warning Against Spread of Disease.

Chicago, Ill.—In ringworm eczema, probably the most common of skin diseases, exists a great economic danger, according to Dr. Frances E. Seneor of the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

In the past ten to fifteen years this disorder has spread so rapidly that it is safe to say that a major portion of the population is affected by it, Dr. Seneor says.

In its most common form the disorder affects the skin between the toes, producing a sodden appearance and peeling of the epidermis. It may persist for years without causing further signs, but sooner or later blisters are likely to appear. Serious complications frequently ensue when the sores develop secondary pus infection, often resulting in attacks of erysipelas and lymphangitis or "blood poisoning."

Precautionary methods suggested by Dr. Seneor are: 1, never step on the floor barefooted, especially with wet feet; 2, wear slippers of wooden, sandal, or straw variety; 3, use individual towels and bath mats; 4, wash feet and change hose daily; 5, avoid woolen hose and change shoes daily.

"Careful observance of these precautions is necessary if we are to check the spread of this disease, which, because of its widespread character, and at times serious nature, has become of immense economic importance," Dr. Seneor concluded.

Meade Writes Goodfellowship Club History

TO THE ELECTORS OF MIDLOTHIAN:

The candidates of the Peoples Party have been selected and named for your consideration.

It is proper at this time that the electors of Midlothian should be reminded of what the Peoples Party has done and is striving to do for this Village.

It is about five years since the question of incorporating this Village was first suggested. The residents of Midlothian who later formed the Peoples Party were not opposed to the incorporation of the Village, but they asked to be assured that the newly formed Village would not involve the taxpayers with needless special assessments.

The members of Midlothian Association were the active workers for the incorporation of the Village, and it was naturally assumed the first officers for the Village would be selected from the membership of that association. Accordingly, when that Association called a mass meeting for Sunday, Jan. 31, 1926, to discuss the proposed incorporation, many of the cautious citizens asked about what special assessments they had in mind. It was at that meeting that the policy was publicly announced, "No special assessment for any improvement until that improvement is requested in petition signed by the owners of a majority of the property to be assessed." The people were also told then that the first officers of the Village would probably be members of this Association and that they were all pledged to this policy.

After the names of the candidates were announced some of the residents felt that the men selected to run for Village office were not of the type that could be depended upon to keep any pledge. Hence, the Peoples Party was formed, pledged to see that the announced policy as to special assessments should not be violated.

The ticket of the Association was elected to office. Within a few months they came under the influence of a firm of Chicago lawyers who represented many villages in the south end of Cook County and proceeded to run wild with what we considered needless "improvement" for the sole purpose of collecting attorney's fees.

To fight this more positive menace the Midlothian Goodfellowship Club were organized. The services of an attorney were secured without a fee from any resident or property owner.

This history will be brought down to date in subsequent letters. In the meantime, acquainted with the 1931 candidates of the Peoples Party.

R. J. White, for President. For Trustees, Eric Burns, Kenneth Sidel and Fred C. Kasten. For Police Magistrate, Peter J. Johnson.

Respectfully,
Frank P. Meade, President,
Midlothian Goodfellowship Club.

POSEN PERSONALS

Posen bunco players are in for a busy time the next few weeks. We note three bunco parties of major importance to be held in the near future. They are: Feb. 16th, at St. Stanislaus school hall for the benefit of the parish. This is to be a monthly affair in the future.

February 22nd, at Zaremka's; given by Mrs. Marie Banichi.
March 8th, at Zaremka's; given by Mrs. Hartigan.

All are evening affairs starting at seven and at all there will be plenty of prizes. The public is cordially invited by the sponsors of each party.

Sam Mulree Accident Wednesday Night

Sam Mulree of 148th and Lawndale, is in the Midlothian Health Resort suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg below the knee. Possible skull fracture and a broken collar bone, after what appeared to be an unavoidable accident at 8 P. M. Wednesday night. He stepped from the bus going west, went around in back of it, and walked into the path of a car going east driven by Roy Sezhars, also of Midlothian. He was picked up and taken in the bus to the Health Resort where Dr. Carmichael attended him.

That's an old saying but it isn't true any more. At least, it hasn't been true since F. O. Alexander added "Finney of the Force" to the list of famous comic strip characters.

For "Finney", with his twinkling humor and his shrewd comment on people and the common everyday events of life, is a lovable character, as thousands of newspaper readers who have followed him through his various adventures will testify.

"Finney of the Force" is a regular feature in this newspaper with whom our subscribers are acquainted, and all enjoy him. Then tell your friends about him, for they will enjoy him as much as you do.

The Mud of Midlothian

We still have the Mud because the Gardens Water Association got a new pump. Uncle Casey still lives because a centrifugal is more powerful than a piston type pump.

Rescued from The Mud in which he was entombed as narrated last week, he called for a tank of the justly famous clear spring water of the Gardens. It was brought him. He drank it. The effect was startling.

Hair standing on end he rose three feet in the air, turned a semi-somersault, ran around the Gardens pump house twice, then gasped; "We've been double crossed. We got McIntosh water in the Gardens now."

"But he still lives, though slightly rusty."

Midlothian—in the heart of the iron country.

"Should the iron mines ever be exhausted, the steel mills can fall back on the scrapings from Midlothian sinks."

It is with great trepidation that Uncle Casey presents this communication. But contributors in Midlothian are as scarce as wolves in Markham since Swanson moved there and are not to be ignored, come what may.

Dear Unk: Perhaps the editors real objection to the board is that it does not start off with a roar and end with "Sweet Adeline"—after the fashion of the Lions.

"ONE OF THE BOARDERS"

While wandering in Oak Forest, Uncle Casey heard it was because there is not as much to eat at a village board meeting as at—say a Lions Charter night.

And now if Uncle Casey is missing from the 5:52 one of these mornings, look for his body and convict Roy G. Andrews.

Oak Forest, by the way, is where all good residents of the second and twenty second wards hope to go some day—on a political job.

As far as the Bowling League is concerned Roger Mason can spend bowling night at the movies in Oak Forest since Beulah Mason averaged 132 last Thursday night.

On Friday February 13th the Artillery and Infantry bowl on alleys 3 and 4 while the Aviators and Engineers bowl on alleys 5 and 6.

Or he can drive around looking at culverts.

Speaking of driving—Howard Hullett, too weak to walk from Crawford avenue to Prairie, drove there. Then crawled a little less than six miles around the floor of Fickler's poolroom, looking for his car keys and finally walked back to Crawford without the car.

That man Entrop is positively a genius. Unable to hear the fire siren at night, he has taught his dog to howl when it blows.

And Miss Gallagher who brought home a seed catalogue at Christmas or thereabouts has tulips in her garden.

Perhaps it was that news that set Ralph and Art Woerheide to oiling their fishing tackle last week.

It's an extraordinary winter. We understand that Clare Moore, himself, ate some of the rabbits he shot and what they tasted like was nobody's business.

The Mud of Midlothian—written not in ink that fades nor on paper that molders but in and on the imperishable, everlasting iron of Gardens water.

A Century of Transportation History

When the Golden Spike Was Driven

A Modern Airmail Plane

The Overland Stage Coach

Conestoga Wagon—Forerunner of the Emigrants' "Covered Wagon"

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

THE recent inauguration of a 42-hour all-plane passenger service between New York and San Francisco not only marked the climax of 100 years of transportation history over one of the most historic routes of travel on the North American continent, but it wrote the absolutely final chapter in that epic movement commonly referred to as "the westward push of white civilization." Although the frontier as a fact belongs to long-past history, this incident belongs to the story of the frontier—its culmination and its climax.

That "westward push" began 280 years ago. It came about when "in the middle of the Seventeenth century, before the Carolinas or Pennsylvania were engendered, before New Amsterdam had been wrested from the Dutch, and while New England settlements still hugged the shore or clung to the navigable waterways, a Virginian turned his face to the West and sought to penetrate the wild country beyond the head of navigation of the rivers." Capt. Abraham Wood was his name; the date was 1650; and he journeyed five days westward from Fort Henry, at the falls of the Appamattox river, where Petersburg, Va., now stands, to the falls where the Dan and Staunton unite to form the Roanoke river. Brief and inconsequential though this first westward-faring may appear to be, it was important because it turned the minds of the English-speaking colonists toward "the land of the setting sun" and for the next 250 years their minds and the minds of their descendants were never free from thoughts of what lay there, and there was no cure for their restlessness but to go and see for themselves.

Nearly two hundred years of slow, painful progress from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, and then, through the magic of improved transportation, a swift rush of less than 50 years to the Pacific! In 1650, when Capt. Abraham Wood set forth on his journey, the time-distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific could only have been measured in months and years. Today that same factor is measured in hours and minutes! And that, in brief, is the story of transportation in America.

Because of the many romantic elements in it, the most interesting aspect of the story is contained in the chronicles of the last 100 years. Last year "the Covered Wagon Centennial" was celebrated throughout the trans-Mississippi West. It was celebrated because on April 10, 1830, the three leaders of a fur trading company, Jedediah S. Smith, David E. Jackson and W. L. Sublette, called the roll of their outfit of 81 men, ordered the oxen and mules hitched to the ten wagons in the wagon train and started out from St. Louis for the West. The route over which they traveled until they reached the head of the Wind river in the Rockies was then but a thin, poorly defined trail over the plains and through the mountains. But later it was to be a broad highway cut by the oxen hoofs and wagon wheels of thousands of emigrants who made the historic trek to Oregon. For this was the beginning of the famous Oregon or Overland Trail.

The Smith-Jackson-Sublette expedition was not the first which had gone over that route. Parts of it had been traversed by Lewis and Clark, the explorers, a quarter of a century before; by "the Astorians," a band of seven men returning to the

The Pony Express Salutes the Telegraph

East in 1813 from Astoria, Ore., where they had built a fort named in honor of John Jacob Astor, head of the American Fur company; and by various other free trappers and traders who had ventured into the Great Unknown that was the trans-Mississippi West of the early part of the Nineteenth century. But the transportation of all of these had been canoes and boats on the streams and horses and packtrains on the land. The significance of the 1830 party was that these were the first wheeled vehicles traveling on the route over which all the successive steps in transportation history were to be taken—from water travel, through land travel in all its phases, to the ultimate air travel.

Whole volumes have been written about this pageant of transportation which passed over the historic Overland Trail, so it is possible, within the lengths of this article, only to give the "high spots" in the form of a summary, such as this: 1830—Smith-Jackson-Sublette party took the first "covered wagon" train over the Overland Trail.

1847—Mormons start west. The Mormons, who had wintered at Florence, just north of the present site of Omaha, made their famous migration to the valley of the Great Salt Lake.

1849—The trail, simultaneous with the cry of "Gold in California," became the greatest traveled highway in the world—wider and more beaten than a city street—and hundreds of thousands of wagons passed over it.

1850—The first monthly Wells Fargo mail stages began running from the Missouri to Salt Lake and California. The trail was now in full tide of life, filled with gold seekers from the Missouri to the Mississippi.

1858—September 15—The first overland stage coach left San Francisco for the East and on October 9, 1858, the first stage from the East reached San Francisco.

1860—The first Pony Express mail began running from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento, Calif. The Pony Express continued for 18 months until the completion of the telegraph line to San Francisco in October, 1861. Daring riders, traveling day and night as fast as their horses could run, relayed bags of mail across the plains and mountains from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean.

Starting in 1860, the Express left St. Joseph twice a week, making the trip to Sacramento in eleven days, later in nine days. The record run was in March, 1861, when President Lincoln's inaugural address was carried from St. Joseph to Sacramento, 1,980 miles, in seven days and seventeen hours.

1861—Edward Creighton was commissioned by the Pacific Telegraph company (which in 1864 merged with Western Union) to make a survey for a telegraph route between the Missouri river and the Pacific coast. At Salt Lake he enlisted the support of Brigham Young. Congress approved this enterprise. On October 17, 1861, the first message was telegraphed from San Francisco to Omaha. The western division of the telegraph, Sacramento to Salt Lake City, was constructed by the Overland Telegraph company, which likewise was merged with Western Union, in 1866.

1865—July 10—Political and military reasons dictated that there should be a safer and surer method of transportation between California and the Middle West than the wagon train and stage coach. Four routes were surveyed by the government, but the central route seemed to offer the best advantages for railroad construction, including the most feasible passages over the mountains. Thus it was that the central route was finally selected after a bitter fight between the northern, southern and central factions for the first transcontinental railroad. Following a conference between President Lincoln and General Grenville M. Dodge, Council Bluffs was selected as the eastern terminus of the "Pacific" railroad, at which point connections were to be made with the Chicago and North Western from Chicago. The first rail was laid at Omaha, July 10, 1865, and by the close of the year 40 miles of track had been completed.

1869—On May 10, 1869, in eight years less time than had been allotted for the mighty project, the golden spike was driven at Promontory, 56 miles northwest of Ogden, Utah, joining the rails of the two roads and forming the first railroad line from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast, spanning some 1,770 miles.

For the next 40 years this railroad helped pour its flood of settlers into the Great West. The great buffalo herds were wiped out of existence and with their passing the power of the Indians, who had steadily resisted the encroachments of the whites, ended. Then came the age of the automobile and the next important date in the history of transportation over this historic trail was 1913 when the Lincoln highway was projected as a memorial to a great President, and was later completed as the first continuous improved road to be laid out from the Atlantic to the Pacific. But it remained for the coming of the airplane to draw the eastern and western boundaries of the nation more closely together and man began spanning the continent in hours where before it had taken days and weeks. The inauguration of a daylight air mail line from New York to Chicago by the government in 1919 was the first step, to be followed so swiftly by others that the idea of transcontinental air travel as an accomplished fact almost as soon as it was projected.

In 1920 the air mail route was extended from Chicago to Omaha, then extended for daylight flight to San Francisco. On September 7, 1920, the first transcontinental air mail trip, requiring 33 hours and 21 minutes, was made between San Francisco and New York. This was the first time in history that air mail was carried at night on a regular night schedule. In the next five years air mail service developed rapidly and in 1927 the government retired from operation of air mail planes, the transportation of mail by planes being taken over under contract by private companies.

From New York to Chicago the mails were carried by the National Air Transport and from Chicago to San Francisco, over the historic Overland route, they were carried by the Boeing Air Transport. These companies also contracted to carry air express and from this it was but a step to carrying passengers.

The final step was taken last year when a regular passenger service was inaugurated for both day and night flying. Today the traveler can step in an airplane in New York and 42 hours later (for this schedule includes an overnight stop in Chicago) he is in San Francisco. The actual flying time between the Atlantic coast and the Pacific is 26½ hours. The story of a century of transportation over the Overland Trail is an Aladdin fairy tale come true!

SATISFYING DISHES

For a delectable dessert that is not only beautiful to the eye, but satisfying to the palate, try:

Orange Cream.—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-quarter cupful of cold water and dissolve in one-half cupful of hot orange juice, adding one-half cupful of sugar. Fold in one and one-half cupfuls of whipped cream and one-half cupful of orange pulp cut fine. Serve with a fruit sirup.

Taploca Cream.—Take one-third of a cupful of quick cooking taploca, add one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt and one quart of milk. Cook in a double boiler (stirring often) for 15 minutes. Add one egg yolk slightly beaten, one teaspoonful of flavoring and cook for a minute or two, stirring vigorously. Remove from the fire and add the stiffly beaten white of the egg. Chill and serve in glasses with crushed fruit.

Chocolate or caramel sauce or maple sirup with a few chopped nuts may serve for variety in sauces.

Fold whipped cream into the pudding and serve with orange sections or bits of pineapple.

Fold in chocolate sauce mixed with whipped cream. Canned fruit sauce, coconut, marshmallow sauce or canned fruits all make delectable sauces for the pudding.

Club Cookies.—Take one cupful of shortening, one cupful of sugar, one egg, one-half cupful of sour cream, one-half teaspoonful each of soda and cream of tartar and three cupfuls of pastry flour. Mix as usual and pat the dough out to two inches thick and chill overnight. Roll out into any desired shape. Bake in a moderate oven ten minutes.

Filling.—Take one cupful of stewed prunes, one-half cupful of stewed apricots, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-fourth cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of prune or apricot juice. Cook together, adding one tablespoonful each of butter. Cool before using.

Deserved Tribute Paid Man's Faithful Friends

The patient, tolling pack animals that lost their lives in the great Klondike gold rush have been honored by a memorial. Overlooking the grimly named "Dead-horse Gulch," at Inspiration point on the White Pass railroad, Alaska, there is a bronze tablet honoring the 3,000 animals that figured in the Klondike stampede. Paid for by old "sourdoughs," the tablet portrays a packhorse and mule on the trail. It has been estimated that the average life of a horse or mule used in gold rush packing was five weeks. The odds were against a longer span. The cold weather, one of the greatest hazards to all concerned, was probably a new experience for the animals, just as it was for the majority of miners. Great demands were made upon the animals and little care and food could be given in return. Often, just as in the Eldorado rush, trails were marked by skeletons of the unfortunate animals. No war has been complete without horses and mules. The cavalry alone accounts for the horses, while hauling cannon, food and the indispensable water were part of the mule's job. In the War and Navy building in Washington is another bronze tablet, dedicated this time to the mules and horses—numbering nearly 250,000—which served with the A. E. F. in the World war.

English Treasure Trove

About a year ago a jar of rose nobles was unearthed at Broadhurst manor, Horsted Keynes, England. These are gold coins of the Fifteenth century and of great value from an antiquarian point of view. Even in London ancient hoards are found. A man digging a trench for a water main at Croydon found two earthenware pots, stuffed with coins, which proved to have been minted between A. D. 337 and A. D. 350. Though green with age, they were in excellent preservation.

Harmless

Two housemaids were overheard chatting boastfully on the street car of the merits of their respective establishments. Said one, "Why, at our place we even use that new kind of coffee with the nicotine removed!"

Wrong Description

Little Geraldine's aunt had come to visit her and she was talking to Geraldine and her mother about her father, whom she never had met. Later, just as she was preparing to leave, the aunt mentioned that she had seen a little girl that looked like Geraldine with a gentleman downtown, the Sunday before.

"Well," said Geraldine, "it couldn't have been me. I was downtown, all right, but I was with my daddy all day."

Love in Rough

Marriages among the Formosan aborigines are arranged by force. When a young man loves a girl, his friends call a conference, says an article in the Japan Advertiser. They imprison the youth, kidnap the girl and bring her to her wooer. After the kidnaping they start negotiations with the girl's parents for the union. In case the proposal is rejected the men turn both the youth and girl out of their circles.

Only Two Opinions as to Portrait's Identity

Vivian Forbes, one of the judges at the recent Carnegie Institute international exhibition of paintings, was praising the exhibition's entries to an art critic.

“One cannot but be impressed,” said Mr. Forbes, “by the healthy return to the old, classic standards in painting. Of the extreme, modernistic horrors there were very few samples submitted. I mean pictures like Jobson's portrait.”

“Jobson, you know, had his portrait painted by a young artist of extreme modern tendencies who was much in vogue five years ago. The price Jobson paid for it was big and he therefore persuaded himself that he was proud of it. When it came home he showed it to the cook.”

“Well, Mary,” he said, “how do you like this portrait of me?”

“Sure, sir,” said the cook, “it's lovely. It's beautiful. It's divine.”

“And, of course,” said Jobson, “you know who it is?”

“Of course I do, sir,” replied the cook. “Of course, of course.” As she spoke she kept drawing nearer to the picture, studying it more and more closely. “Of course, sir, it's you or the missus.”

Not Always Good Idea to Be Over-Particular

It is always interesting to learn from bachelors why they have never married, and Alfred Cheney Johnston, well-known photographer, offers this pertinent contribution:

“Of course I have been in love but I believe that the basis of happy marriage is understanding. The modern girl lacks understanding. She doesn't seem to know men and doesn't appear to care whether she does or not. But maybe it's my own fault and that I am in the same position as that other bachelor who said: ‘When I was disposed to marry, I was too particular. Now the girls are too particular.’”—Los Angeles Times.

Some Day

But the day was not over for Ernestine. She left Will at the bank. His coat pocket was stuffed with the packet of bills the teller had given them, and her bank balance was reduced to three figures. But that didn't matter. Not a bit. She was a million times richer than she had been the day before. The bankbook figures would fatten again.

She wished she had her car, but, lacking it, she went across to Sheridan road, took a bus north, rode almost to Devon, left the bus and went to Lillian's.

Nobody answered the bell, but the door was unlocked, so Ernestine walked in. The house was silent, but she was instantly aware of the fact that some one was in it. She called, but no one answered. She went through into the kitchen. The maid's bedroom was off the kitchen and the door stood open. Ernestine went in there and saw that the room were an unoccupied look. She opened the closet door. The hooks were empty. The maid had left, or had been dismissed.

She was still under the domination of her deep self, and, as she had been governed in Will's office an hour or so earlier by forces she did not understand, so now she went quickly up the stairs, through the silent house and into the big front bedroom where Lillian and Loring slept. The cover showed the impress of a body, the pillow had been drawn out from under the spread. She looked swiftly about and was not at all surprised to see Loring standing against the wall, behind her, one hand behind his back.

His coat collar was turned up across the back, his hair was in disorder, he was unshaven, and across one cheek was a deep imprint where his sleeve, or his pillow, had creased his flesh.

Ernestine went to him and held out her hand.

“Give it to me,” she said sternly, as she might have addressed Peter.

Loring stared at her sulkily for a moment, his haggard eyes taking on a belated vitality. Then, silently, but with a shrug and a grimace, he drew from behind him a small nickel-plated revolver and put it in her hand. Ernestine crossed the room, opened the window and flung it far away into the water of the lake that breathed against the sandy beach.

She turned back to Loring, closed the window and dusted her hands.

“That's that,” she said, with a gleam in her eyes. “What did you think that was going to do for you?”

He dragged himself away from the wall and sank down into a chaise-longue. With a kind of groan Loring hid his face in his hands and sat there like a broken man.

“I didn't know till this afternoon,” he said. “But the grand jury—”

“That's all right, Loring,” said Ernestine. “That's fixed.”

“Fixed?” he said hoarsely, and looked up at her, his expression a little wild. “You don't understand. They've got me seven ways.”

“Not now,” she said, thinking how strange it was that he could never know about Pastano, and about the twenty thousand dollars.

“Will fixed it,” she said gently. “You know, he has friends who told him. Will fixed it for you, Loring. He could—there are men downtown who would do anything for Will. He knows the ropes.”

Loring's head fell forward again.

“I'm a failure,” he muttered. “A complete failure—and now Will pulls me out of the rubbish heap. I've been here in the house all afternoon, trying to screw myself up to do one decent thing—to get myself out of the way—before all this falls on the rest of you, and I couldn't even do this.”

“Of course you couldn't. You're too perfectly healthy. You've been a fool perhaps—like the rest of us, but you aren't crazy, and only insane people are capable of self-destruction. Look, Loring, you can start again. Why, men sometimes have to start again when they're old. Lots of men fall once—or twice—and then succeed. You can start back and rebuild your father's old business. What if you have to let the house and the car go—it's a small price for a new start. Pastano will let you alone, as long as you stay off of his preserves. Lillian's got her money. Will and I are going to start new.”

He looked up at her—eager to be comforted as a child is eager to be comforted—eager to believe her, coming back, slowly and painfully, from the dark places of fright and madness.

“But Lillian!”—he said, protesting, arguing, as mortal man always argues, on the wrong side—“Lillian's going to have a baby—that was what sickened me on all that old business—I'd been sick of it, anyhow, and when I knew I might have a son—I had to get clear. I told her to go to New York, last week, but she wouldn't. She's stuck to me, Ernestine. I never believed she would. I thought she was a fair-weather wife. I've always thought it. But she's been wonderful. She let her maid go, and she's been doing her own housework. She sold her car and brought me the money. She wrote to her father to let her have her trust fund outright. Now she's going out looking for a flat. That's all right—but when I thought of prison—and Lillian's baby coming in all that trouble, it seemed that the best thing I could do would be to get out. If I were gone, she'd go home to her mother, and perhaps no one would know. I'm all caved in about Lillian, about the way she's taken it.”

“Why, Loring,” said Ernestine, and laughed shakily. “Lillian adores you—always did. She loves you. When you've just found out how much she cares, you contemplate leaving her. What a way to figure. If that's not like a man!”

They talked a little. Ernestine sat down on the dressing table, flung her hat upon Lillian's bed and talked to him. She told him of the new plans she and Will had made. Gradually he relaxed, came back to normal. He reached up and turned his coat collar down and put up a hand and smoothed his hair. After a little he got up and shook his big body.

“I believe I'll go and shave,” he said. “I'm a fright. You won't tell Lillian or Will about this afternoon?”

“Why should I tell them? It would just scare them both. Have you had lunch?”

“No, I don't think so; no, I didn't.”

“Neither did I. I'll go downstairs and fix some coffee and sandwiches while you're shaving.”

From the kitchen she could hear him moving about; then she heard the front door open and the click of the latch. She went to the hall, and Lillian saw her. Lillian came back to the kitchen.

“You didn't answer the phone, so I came over—Lorrie's upstairs. He said he hadn't eaten”—she made a gesture to the preparations on the table.

Lillian nodded absently.

“Ernestine,” she said softly, quickly, “I'm going to have a baby.”

Ernestine kissed her. “I'm awfully glad.”

“Did you know about all of Loring's trouble?”

“Will told me some—Loring's told me the rest—but the worst is over for him now.”

“Poor kid,” said Lillian. She leaned against the door a moment and smiled at her younger sister. It seemed to Ernestine that since she had last seen her, the hard surface had dissolved from Lillian.

“Isn't it funny? Now everything is different. I used to wonder how you could go ahead when things were so hard. But it's not so bad—in the thick of it, as it seems from the sidelines. Just to know the baby's coming makes all this mess of Loring's seem so unimportant—I don't care what arrangements we make. Oh, Ernestine, there have been times when I thought Loring loved you more than he did me, but these last few days he's been so sweet to me—so worried about me. He's humbled—it makes my heart ache. I can't tell you how I feel.”

“I guess I know,” Ernestine answered. “It's this business of marriage—but go on up to him, darling, and get him to eat something. All this will straighten itself out.”

Lillian went up the stairs. Standing in the hall, looking after her, Ernestine realized that these sorrows were blessings—these were the things that bound a man and a woman together. This would break for ever Loring's old fixed idea about herself, and Lillian's belief that she had married for her own advantage. This would leave them close together, warm, heart to heart.

She turned the gas low under the coffee-pot, spread a napkin over the sandwiches she had fixed and slipped quietly out of the house. Perhaps Will was at home, and she would eat with him.

As she walked she began to plan all the new life. Her practical, efficient mind set itself with vigor upon the new problems. The removal to the lake—the need of a studio there for Will, the possibility of adjusting their life to changeable income. But Will was so active—he would doubtless have all the work he could do, within a year or two. Some day he would be famous, and he would find the world willing to pay for beauty as well as wit.

She walked more quickly—eager to be home, the young blood singing in her heart.

Some day—

in State Abbreviations

The abbreviation used for Ohio is “O.” Apparently Oklahoma and Oregon do not object. But there are six states whose names begin with letters which are not the first letters of the names of any of the other states. These states are: Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Utah. Why not use D, F, G, L, P and U for the abbreviations in those cases? Also, West Virginia is the only “West” state. So why not simply use “W. V.” instead of the usual “W. Va.”? The only reason for abbreviations in the first place is the desire to save time and space. Then why not save all the time and space possible, or else use the full name? Why fuss with “Pa.” and “Penn.” and “Penna.” when “P.” would fill the bill?—Worcester Telegram.

Homes Without Radios

Despite the large number of radio sets already sold in the United States there are more than 20,000,000 homes without receivers.

How to Escape FLU

1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

4 Above all, avoid catching colds. They lower your resistance to the flu germ. Ward them off. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. If you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this will relieve the soreness and reduce the inflammation.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

Long Hours of Sunshine

Important to Iceland

Health conditions in Iceland are excellent, Dr. Henry Dwight Chapin says in a report in Hygeia Magazine of a trip that he made to that northern island last summer.

Doctor Chapin was especially interested in the children. He found that infant mortality there was about the lowest in Europe—52.3 per 1,000. One factor he considered important in this result is that most of the infants are breast fed.

The climate of Iceland is favorable to health, Doctor Chapin believes. The prolonged daily sunshine, which in summer reaches twenty hours a day, is an important influence. Ultraviolet radiation is effective until 9:00 p. m. and the purity and clearness of the air favor the full effect of the sunshine.

SWEETEN ACID STOMACH THIS PLEASANT WAY

When there's distress two hours after eating—heartburn, indigestion, gas—suspect excess acid.

The best way to correct this is with an alkali. Physicians prescribe Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water neutralizes many times its volume in excess acid; and does it at once. To try it is to be through with crude methods forever.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. All drugstores have the generous 25c and 50c bottles. Full directions in package.

Egg Romance

“Why doesn't your friend like eggs?”

“He got acquainted with his wife in that way.”

“Hey?”

“She wrote her name on an egg.”

No! No! No!

Mary—Your insults have no effect on me. You will not gain your point in that way!

Martin—What do I want to gain?

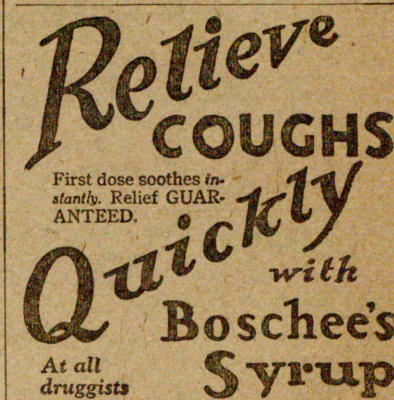

Mary—You want to make me go to mother. But I'll send for her to come here.—Answers.

Avoid Burns from Mustard Plasters

When you have Rheumatic or Muscular Pains in the back, chest or limbs or if you have a cold coming on, try this simple treatment. It is more convenient, safer, cleaner and more effective than mustard plaster.

Get a bottle of Hoff's Liniment and apply it with brisk rubbing. Then saturate a cloth with Hoff's and apply to the painful area and in a few minutes you will feel the warming and stimulating effect of this powerful liniment.

Hoff's is different from ordinary liniments that are applied with rubbing alone. It brings a quick flow of blood to the affected area, reducing congestion and relieving pain. Get an eight ounce bottle of your druggist today for 60 cents. If you do not get relief in 30 minutes he is authorized to refund your money. Goodrich-Gamble Company, St. Paul, Minnesota.

A Fair Offer
She—What's in a name, anyhow?
He—Well, if you'll take mine you can get a good home out of it.

Far more than
"JUST A COOK-STOVE"

You say your ten-year-old gas range still cooks some pretty good meals?

Of course it does. But how would you like a range that does more than cook . . . sets you free from your kitchen when you want to go out . . . simplifies your whole job of meal preparation? This is exactly what the Magic Chef "Tiffin" Gas Range does.

An automatic control regulates oven temperatures so your roasts and pastries can't go wrong—can't burn or be underdone. You set the dial and play hookey from your kitchen until it's time to turn off the heat.

A porcelain table top folds over the surface burners when you're not cooking and lets the range do double duty in small kitchens. There's also a roomy utensil drawer to keep pots and pans within reaching distance.

Surface burners of a new patented construction are no trouble at all to clean.

To make the Tiffin Range even more irresistible, it is finished in all-over porcelain enamel—old ivory with antique marble trim. Handles are of onyx-green Bakelite. Both oven and broiler are porcelain-lined and specially insulated.

Be sure to see this range—"more than just a cook stove"—at your Public Service Store.

Special February offer on gas ranges.
Ask about it at your Public Service Store.
